Governor To Seek State Cigaret Tax

Also Plans To Increase Rates On Other Imposts For Budget

BALTIMORE, Dec. 22 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin said tonight he may ask the 1955 General Assembly to impose a state cigarette tax as well as increase three other tax rates to get 30 million dollars needed to balance the Maryland budget.

He said the additional revenue can be derived from any or all of four tax proposals recommended by the Commission on State Finance and Bonded Debt.

In addition to a one cent cigarette tax, these include:

An increase in the sales tax, the state income tax and automobile titling taxes.

In a speech prepared for television (WMAR-TV) delivery, the gover said "a State tax of one cent per package of cigarettes would raise only six million dollars a year, and would, as the commission points out, have to be supplemented by other taxes."

He said the commission headed by W. Arthur Grotz "recommends splitting the burden between the income tax and the use and sales tax or the motor vehicle titling tax after utilization of the cigarette tax."

He said about 19 million dollars is needed for increased State services and 11 million dollars to compensate for the decrease in expected revenues compared with this year.

The governor said more than 17 million dollars more would be needed for services in health, education and public welfare, and that education would get some 13½ millions of this, health more than 1¼ millions and public welfare more than $1,250,00.

State agencies have asked for $131,500,000 from general funds to operate the next fiscal year. Their current appropripations are $110,240,641. The Board of Revenue Estimates has scheduled a meeting next Tuesday to guess how much money will be available for these appropriations.

The Grotz commission, in recommending the four possible sources or increased taxation, said "all increases, regardless of source, should find their way exclusively into the general fund of the State, and should not be shared with the localities."

The letter to the governor said: "Since Maryland is one of but six states which so not have a State cigarette tax, this tax might well be first considered as a source of needed revenue."

It recommended that the State might restore some of the original provisions of the sales and use tax that were eliminated later when the State found it did not need so much revenue.

The sales tax, as originally set up under the administration of former Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr., called for a tax of 1 cent on sales from 14 to 50 cents and 2 cents from 51 cents to a dollar. A later adjustment wiped out the tax on sales under 51 cents and also eliminated the tariff on restaurant meals and several household items.

The governor went before television cameras to discuss the financial picture, since, he said, "This is the problem faced by me and the other fiscal officers of the State—and, by you, the taxpayers".

McKeldin said "it is worthy to note here that an increase of one per cent on sales and use taxes on the present base plus a one per cent increase on income taxes based on 1953 incomes would produce the necessary revenue."

He said of the increased spending for education, $10,665,189 for State aid to education and 1½ millions for teacher retirement are mandatory under law, and "cannot be reduced by me."

Ladejinsky Said To Be Security Risk As Attache

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—The Agriculture Department said today the activities of Russian-born Wolf Ladejinsky raise too many security questions to permit him to continue as agricultural attache at the U.S. Embassy in Tokyo.

It also said some one who is close to American farming operations would be better suited for the $11,000-a-year post.

Ladejinsky said in reply that it was "not true" that he belonged to two Communist front organizations, as stated by the department, and said he had no idea what was meant by its mention of "information contained in classified reports."

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn), along with Rep. Judd (R-Minn), have questioned the removal of Ladejinsky. It was disclosed last week.

Humphrey said today the Agriculture Department and Secretary Benson have "conjured up a mighty flimsy framework of excuses for what I call unwarranted action."

Humphrey also said the case seems to demonstrate that some of the better paid jobs in the department "are now going to be opened to persons of a more obvious political persuasion."

The department issued today's statement after keeping silent for several days as to its reasons. On the security angle it said:

"According to testimony of former Communists, to have been employed in any capacity by Amtorg Trading Corp. required clearance from the Communist party.

"Mr. Ladejinsky was employed as an economist investigator and assistant to the chief of the Bureau of Transportation of the Soviet Railroad, later known as Amtorg Trading Corp., during 1930-31. This was after he left the U.S.S.R., at the age of 23, because of professed dislike of the Communist system.

"Mr. Ladejinsky's having his father and sisters in the U.S.S.R. at the time he was building an anti-Communist reputation in the Unfted States through magazine articles, his trip to the U.S.S.R. in 1939 as a tourist after he had published articles criticizing Russian farming methods, his membership in two Communist front organizations, as well as information contained in classified reports raise questions which preclude the Department of Agriculture from granting Mr. Ladejinsky the necessary security clearance required for the position of attache, which clearance would make available to him the most highly classified documents of the U.S. government."

Youth Is Shot By Policeman

WAUSEON, Ohio, Dec. 22 (AP)—A youth wanted for questioning in the fatal shooting of a Michigan police officer was shot and killed today, gun in hand, when he stopped at an Ohio State Patrol roadblock.

Fulton County Sheriff Loren Yoder said the youth was tentatively identified as Elmer Eugene Anderson, 19, of Lansing, Mich. Anderson's parents were to come to nearby Fayette tonight to make positive identification of the body.

Yoder said a policeman's .38 caliber revolver found in the youth's car was identified as that belonging to police officer Ivan Wilson of Allen, Mich.

Wilson was shot to death last night at Allen after he stopped a car for speeding. Police there said the driver of the car pulled a .32 caliber automatic and opened fire. A second officer, Gerald Chase, was wounded in the head.

Two patrolmen stopped Anderson's car on U.S. 127 about four miles northwest of Fayette. One of the two, Cpl. B. F. Cain, said Anderson emerged from the car, gun in hand, and Cain fired once. He said the shot hit Anderson in the stomach.

Children's Homecoming Will Be Yule Present For Greek

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP) — Christmas for Mike Katsenevas of Ogden, Utah, won't be perfect but it may turn out to be one of the best ever.

For years Mike has been trying to get his nine children and his wife to the United States from the Greek island of Crete. In 1947 he managed to bring three of the children back with him after a trip to his old home.

Mike, a United States citizen of Greek birth, works for a Navy supply depot near Ogden.

But he never could raise the money to get his wife and the other six children, ranging from 8 to 17 years old, home to Utah.

Mike's fellow workers chipped in to raise enough money to bring the whole Katsenevas family together again. But something always happened to prevent the trip.

Today Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) said the State Department has informed him that passports for all six children will be ready tomorrow morning at Athens. The only hitch is that Mrs. Katsenevas has a case of acute amoebiasis, a curable but infectious disease. She won't be able to get a passport until she has been cured.

If the children are agreeable, Trans World Air Lines will take all six aboard a flight out of Athens Friday, with good prospects of getting into Salt Lake City by Christmas night.

Fla. Drops Murder Charge Against James Roberts In Slaying Of His Daughter

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 22 (AP)—The state dropped murder charges against James T. Roberts today but did not completely vindicate the Baltimore attorney in the kidnap-slaying of his daughter, Judith Ann, seven.

In a nolle prosse no prosecution petition, approved by Circuit Judge Pat Cannon, the state attorney's office said it reserved the right to reinstate the charge at a later date if investigation turns up additional evidence.

State Atty. George Brautigam said he instituted the nolle prosse action after learning that one of the state's key witnesses gave perjured testimony.

He said he would ask the grand jury at its next meeting to cite for perjury the witness, private investigator C. Clark Wood.

Judith Ann was taken from the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rosenberg, late July 6 or early July 7. Her battered body was found about 6:30 a.m. July 7 in tangled underbrush near South Bayshore Drive.

After weeks of investigation, Roberts was charged with murdering his daughter. He had been free in $10,000 bond since October, awaiting his trial set for Feb. 28. Today's action lifted the bond and freed Roberts of the court's jurisdiction.

"I'm glad the truth is out," Roberts said at his home in suburban Baltimore. "I hold no grudge or any hard feelings. . ."

Wood had testified that he saw Roberts and an unidentified woman July 7, shortly after midnight, in a parked car near the spot where little Judith Ann's body was found a few hours later.

He said he was able to fix the time because he had been trailing another party. This person, he said, paid his check in a downtown Miami nightclub within a few minutes of midnight. He was following this person from the club when he saw Roberts, he said.

Acting on a tip from the Miami Daily News, state investigators learned Saturday that the club Wood named was closed the night of July 6 because its license had been suspended temporarily.

Petersen Admits Spying Charge

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Dec. 22 (AP)—Joseph S. Petersen changed his mind today and admitted that as an employe of a highly secret government agency he used secret information "in a manner prejudicial to the safety and interest of the United States."

By pleading guilty to one of three charges, the former analyst and researcher for the National Security Agency may escape trial on the remaining charges. Until today he had maintained he was innocent of all of them.

Petersen said through his attorney that he changed his plea for the best interests of this country. Federal Judge Albert V. Bryan, who received the new plea, deferred sentencing. Petersen could get as much as 10 years.

Petersen, 40, for 13 years an employe of the National Security Agency and its predecessors, was arrested by the FBI last Oct. 9 and charged with improperly taking classified information with "reason to believe" it was being used by a foreign power.

No Harm Is Done In Debunking Santa

LONDON, Dec. 22 (AP)—The British Medical Journal assured parents today no psychological harm is done by telling children there is a Santa Claus.

Young children, said the organ of the British Medical Assn., "tend not to differentiate between reality and make-believe, and will be content to live with heroes who are partly fact and partly fiction."

French Cautioned Status As Power Is Jeopardized

PARIS, Dec. 22 (AP)—Premier Pierre Mendes-France today cautioned the French National Assembly that rejection of the treaties on rearmament of Germany might cost France her status as a big power.

Heeding repeated demands from the deputies for a new Big Four meeting to try to iron out frictions between the East and West, Mendes-France said that the first consideration was to solidify the Western alliance. He asserted that this can be accomplished only by French agreement to the treaties which will bring Germany into the Western camp as an equal partner.

"If the Assembly takes the grave step of a second refusal," Mendes-France declared, "there will no longer be any question of Four Power negotiations. A little later maybe there would be negotiations, but with two or three powers present, because our place would no longer be in the Atlantic alliance, at least we would no longer have any political influence. We would have no role to play in an eventual lessening of tensions."

The Premier's words were among those few voices thus far in support of the interlocking treaties as the Assembly's debate moved through its third day. Most of the fireworks have been saved for tomorrow, when the debate is scheduled to end.

Listed to speak tomorrow are former Premiers Robert Schuman, Rene Mayer, Rene Pleven, Edouard Herriot and Mendes-France again. The Premier's brief statement today came as an interruption to an address by former Defense Minister Jules Moch.

Only one person died as a result of the quake but about 50 were slightly injured.

U. S. Social Security Act To Broaden

10 Million Workers To Be Embraced In System After Jan. 1

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP) — About 10 million more workers come under protection of the Social Security system Jan. 1 and Commissioner Charles I. Schottland said today everything is all set for the expansion.

For many who already are covered, Jan. 1 will also bring a boost in the taxes that finance the system set up in 1935.

This year the worker and his boss were each taxed 2 per cent of the first $3,600 of the employe's pay. Next year the taxable portion is $4,200. For those making $4,200 or more a year, it will mean a tax of $84 instead of $72.

The 10 million newcomers include 3,600,000 farm operators, 2,100,000 farm laborers, 3,500,000 state and local government employes, 250,000 ministers and other religious workers, 250,000 domestic workers and various smaller groups.

Schottland said that increased benefits provided for under 1954 Social Security legislation were put into effect with less trouble than had been anticipated and "now we are ready to move ahead with the other expansion phases."

Benefits Increased

Increased benefits for 6,700,000 recipients of checks from the Old Age and Survivors Insurance fund were effective for September. The changes were made in the checks for that month—issued in October—which were delivered some 33 days after the new law went into effect.

Benefits are estimated to total about 4½ billion dollars in 1955, compared with 3½billion for 1954. The OASI trust fund, most of it invested in government bonds at interest, is expected to total about 21 billion on Dec. 31.

"There have been less bugs in the whole operation of expanding the Social Security program than could have been anticipated," Schottland said in an interview.

The Social Security administration does not expect a tremendous increase in applications for cards. It figures that over the years since 1935 most persons who will come under regular coverage through the expanded program have been employed in covered work at some time and have cards.

Budget Was Raised

However, after enactment of the new law, the budget for handling new card applications for the three months ending Dec. 31 was increased to care for an estimated 571,000 applicants instead of a previously estimated 521,000. More than 205,000 cards were issued in November.

The budget provides for handling 279,000 cards in the January-March quarter next year and 424,000 in the April-June quarter, a total of 703,000.

Social Security estimates that more than 99 million workers have cards already. It had issued 113 million up to June 30, 1953 and estimates 11 million persons who got them have since died and that another 2,900,000 represent duplicate accounts.

Liberace Ordered To Take Vacation

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 22 (AP)—Liberace today was under doctor's orders to vacation until Feb. 1 because of what his doctor termed "a mild and temporary heart strain due to lack of rest."

John J. Jacobs, the pianist's attorney, commented:

"There is no cause whatsoever for concern on the part of Liberace's legion of friends for his physical health."

CHARGE DROPPED—Florida yesterday dropped murder charges against Baltimore lawyer James T. Roberts, accused of slaying his 7-year-old daughter, Judith Ann.

Fierce Storms Batter North Europe Coast

LONDON, Dec. 22 (AP) — New storms roared on the battered coasts of northern Europe tonight while rescue vessels searched for 19 seamen feared lost on the 2,000-ton Belgian freighter Henri DeWeert.

Another vessel, the 1,317-ton Swedish Freighter Peta, believed lost with 21 men in last night's big blow, was located early tonight by search craft and her crew was reported safe. She was said to be helpless and leaking and rescue tugs set out immediately to save her crew before new gales struck.

Both ships were off the Dutch coast.

A rescue craft searching for the Henri DeWeert reported sighting a lifeboat but lost contact before it could determine whether anyone was aboard. The last message from the Belgian freighter said she was sinking.

Coastal residents of northern Europe got a breathing spell late today after hurricanes and high seas pierced dikes and wrecked shipping, but weather forecasters warned that more storms were on the way.

From 12 to 15 ships were reported in trouble along the Belgian, Dutch and north German coasts. Some of them were 7,000-ton freighters registered from at least a half dozen nations. Most of the vessels reported minor damages and were expected to make port before the new storms hit.

Some 60 ships took shelter along the eastern English coast.

The 2,764-ton Danish freighter Cimbria sustained a broken propeller 80 miles north of the Dutch islet of Terschelling, but a salvage company reported a tug had taken her in tow and that all aboard were safe.

Winds in last night's storm, which occasionally reached 112 miles an hour, abated early tonight and the mountainous waves leveled out. One observer flying over the area said, however, "the sea looked like soap suds. It was beaten to froth and very angry."

The Dutch dike system, already pierced in at least six places, would be severely tried by mounting seas. Dikes were hastily repaired today and a full scale watch was maintained to fight any repetition of the flood disaster of February, 1953, which cost almost 1,400 lives and about 250 million dollars.

CASABLANCA, French Morocco, Dec. 22 (AP)—A terrorist's bomb exploded in the center of the European quarter today, killing a nurse and injuring six other persons.

New Automobile Models Keep Living Index High

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—Living costs went down a jot in November, the government reported today—unless you bought a new car.

All goods and services considered, the Bureau of Labor Statistics' consumer price index rose about one-tenth of 1 per cent in November. It would have dropped but for the unveiling of 1955 automobile models.

There was little change in list prices for new cars, but the index jumped because 1954 models had been selling at substantial discounts.

Food prices slid 0.6 per cent to the lowest index level since January 1951. Costs of appliances and home furnishings also fell off.

The aggregate November index was 114.6 per cent of the 1947-49 average, just one-tenth of a point above the October index. It compared with an index of 115.0 for November 1953. And it was down 0.8 of an index point from the all-time high of October 1953, representing a gain of almost a penny in the dollar's buying power.

It was still 12.6 per cent higher than June 1950, right before the Korean War began shoving prices upward.

Average take-home pay for factory workers rose 61 cents to a new peak of $60.45 a week in November, the bureau reported. Their pay check was worth more than ever before in buying power, despite the fractional increase in the price index.

Demos Press Airing About Manpower Cut

Stevenson Doesn't Think Nation Should Reduce Its Defenses

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP) — Democrats in Congress served notice today they will demand a full airing of President Eisenhower's plan to cut the manpower strength of the active armed forces.

Both in the Senate and in the House, Democrats who will take control Jan. 5 raised questions about the announced plan for a 400,000-man reduction in the next 18 months.

In similar vein Adlai E. Stevenson said he saw "little prospect that we can safely reduce our defenses or relax our guard" in 1955.

Doesn't Think War Near

The 1952 Democratic candidate for president added, however, he does not regard war as imminent. Stevenson gave his views in a symposium conducted by Look Magazine.

On Capitol Hill, Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont), a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said: "If we are going to coexist with Communists, we better coexist with a position of strength—if we want to survive."

Another committee member, Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala), said in a separate interview that "we can't get bargain counter defense."

Mansfield, and Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) said Secretary of Defense Wilson and other top military figures undoubtedly will be called before the Armed Services, Foreign Relations and Appropriations committees to give a full explanation of the cutback. Kefauver is a member of the Armed Services Committee.

At the other side of the Capitol Rep. Vinson (D-Ga), in line for chairmanship of the House Armed Services Committee, said that group definitely will call Wilson soon after the new session opens.

Wilson has said President Eisenhower approved the manpower reduction because of a belief the danger of war has lessened. Secretary of State Dulles gave a seemingly different explanation yesterday, saying the cut is made possible by a growing advantage on the part of this country in nuclear weapons. The State Department said it saw no conflict between Dulles' and Wilson's views.

Wilson Announced Cut

Wilson announced earlier in the week that the regular armed forces would be cut from 3,218,000 to 2,815,000 by mid-1956. He said the deepest reductions would come in the regular Army, with smaller cuts in the Navy and Marines, while the Air Force would be expanded slightly.

Mansfield said he fears that the nation would "sacrifice vital strength in the name of economy" under the administration's proposal.

"I have opposed past reductions by this administration," he said. "The Army was cut back from 21 to 19 divisions and then down again to 17. With this additional cut I don't know where we are going to get the power we need if an emergency arises."

Prophet's Sister Says He's Sick

LANSING, Mich., Dec. 22 (AP)—A sister of Dr. Charles Laughead, 44, who predicted that half the continent would be wiped away Tuesday, Dec. 21, today petitioned the court to have him and his wife committed to a mental hospital.

Separate petitions against the former Michigan State College physician and his wife, Lillian, were filed in the Ingham County Probate Court today by his sister, Miss Margaret V. Laughead, of Des Moines, Iowa.

The petitions asked that the husband and wife "be admitted to the Kalamazoo State Hospital or Traverse City State Hospital (both mental institutions) as mentally ill."

Judge John McClellan said the sister also indicated she would seek to have a guardian appointed to look after the Laughead estate and to care for the couple's three children.

Court attendants said a hearing on the petitions was tentatively scheduled for Monday if the couple could be reached by that time.

Contacted at Oak Park, Ill., where he reportedly is seeking employment, Dr. Laughead said he had "No comment."

Fla. Drops Murder Charge Against James Roberts In Slaying Of His Daughter

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 22 (AP)—The state dropped murder charges against James T. Roberts today but did not completely vindicate the Baltimore attorney in the kidnap-slaying of his daughter, Judith Ann, seven.

In a nolle prosse no prosecution petition, approved by Circuit Judge Pat Cannon, the state attorney's office said it reserved the right to reinstate the charge at a later date if investigation turns up additional evidence.

State Atty. George Brautigam said he instituted the nolle prosse action after learning that one of the state's key witnesses gave perjured testimony.

He said he would ask the grand jury at its next meeting to cite for perjury the witness, private investigator C. Clark Wood.

Judith Ann was taken from the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rosenberg, late July 6 or early July 7. Her battered body was found about 6:30 a.m. July 7 in tangled underbrush near South Bayshore Drive.

After weeks of investigation, Roberts was charged with murdering his daughter. He had been free in $10,000 bond since October, awaiting his trial set for Feb. 28. Today's action lifted the bond and freed Roberts of the court's jurisdiction.

"I'm glad the truth is out," Roberts said at his home in suburban Baltimore. "I hold no grudge or any hard feelings. . ."

Wood had testified that he saw Roberts and an unidentified woman July 7, shortly after midnight, in a parked car near the spot where little Judith Ann's body was found a few hours later.

He said he was able to fix the time because he had been trailing another party. This person, he said, paid his check in a downtown Miami nightclub within a few minutes of midnight. He was following this person from the club when he saw Roberts, he said.

Acting on a tip from the Miami Daily News, state investigators learned Saturday that the club Wood named was closed the night of July 6 because its license had been suspended temporarily.

Petersen Admits Spying Charge

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Dec. 22 (AP)—Joseph S. Petersen changed his mind today and admitted that as an employe of a highly secret government agency he used secret information "in a manner prejudicial to the safety and interest of the United States."

By pleading guilty to one of three charges, the former analyst and researcher for the National Security Agency may escape trial on the remaining charges. Until today he had maintained he was innocent of all of them.

Petersen said through his attorney that he changed his plea for the best interests of this country. Federal Judge Albert V. Bryan, who received the new plea, deferred sentencing. Petersen could get as much as 10 years.

Petersen, 40, for 13 years an employe of the National Security Agency and its predecessors, was arrested by the FBI last Oct. 9 and charged with improperly taking classified information with "reason to believe" it was being used by a foreign power.

No Harm Is Done In Debunking Santa

LONDON, Dec. 22 (AP)—The British Medical Journal assured parents today no psychological harm is done by telling children there is a Santa Claus.

Young children, said the organ of the British Medical Assn., "tend not to differentiate between reality and make-believe, and will be content to live with heroes who are partly fact and partly fiction."

French Cautioned Status As Power Is Jeopardized

PARIS, Dec. 22 (AP)—Premier Pierre Mendes-France today cautioned the French National Assembly that rejection of the treaties on rearmament of Germany might cost France her status as a big power.

Heeding repeated demands from the deputies for a new Big Four meeting to try to iron out frictions between the East and West, Mendes-France said that the first consideration was to solidify the Western alliance. He asserted that this can be accomplished only by French agreement to the treaties which will bring Germany into the Western camp as an equal partner.

"If the Assembly takes the grave step of a second refusal," Mendes-France declared, "there will no longer be any question of Four Power negotiations. A little later maybe there would be negotiations, but with two or three powers present, because our place would no longer be in the Atlantic alliance, at least we would no longer have any political influence. We would have no role to play in an eventual lessening of tensions."

The Premier's words were among those few voices thus far in support of the interlocking treaties as the Assembly's debate moved through its third day. Most of the fireworks have been saved for tomorrow, when the debate is scheduled to end.

Listed to speak tomorrow are former Premiers Robert Schuman, Rene Mayer, Rene Pleven, Edouard Herriot and Mendes-France again. The Premier's brief statement today came as an interruption to an address by former Defense Minister Jules Moch.

Only one person died as a result of the quake but about 50 were slightly injured.

U. S. Social Security Act To Broaden

10 Million Workers To Be Embraced In System After Jan. 1

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP) — About 10 million more workers come under protection of the Social Security system Jan. 1 and Commissioner Charles I. Schottland said today everything is all set for the expansion.

For many who already are covered, Jan. 1 will also bring a boost in the taxes that finance the system set up in 1935.

This year the worker and his boss were each taxed 2 per cent of the first $3,600 of the employe's pay. Next year the taxable portion is $4,200. For those making $4,200 or more a year, it will mean a tax of $84 instead of $72.

The 10 million newcomers include 3,600,000 farm operators, 2,100,000 farm laborers, 3,500,000 state and local government employes, 250,000 ministers and other religious workers, 250,000 domestic workers and various smaller groups.

Schottland said that increased benefits provided for under 1954 Social Security legislation were put into effect with less trouble than had been anticipated and "now we are ready to move ahead with the other expansion phases."

Benefits Increased

Increased benefits for 6,700,000 recipients of checks from the Old Age and Survivors Insurance fund were effective for September. The changes were made in the checks for that month—issued in October—which were delivered some 33 days after the new law went into effect.

Benefits are estimated to total about 4½ billion dollars in 1955, compared with 3½billion for 1954. The OASI trust fund, most of it invested in government bonds at interest, is expected to total about 21 billion on Dec. 31.

"There have been less bugs in the whole operation of expanding the Social Security program than could have been anticipated," Schottland said in an interview.

The Social Security administration does not expect a tremendous increase in applications for cards. It figures that over the years since 1935 most persons who will come under regular coverage through the expanded program have been employed in covered work at some time and have cards.

Budget Was Raised

However, after enactment of the new law, the budget for handling new card applications for the three months ending Dec. 31 was increased to care for an estimated 571,000 applicants instead of a previously estimated 521,000. More than 205,000 cards were issued in November.

The budget provides for handling 279,000 cards in the January-March quarter next year and 424,000 in the April-June quarter, a total of 703,000.

Social Security estimates that more than 99 million workers have cards already. It had issued 113 million up to June 30, 1953 and estimates 11 million persons who got them have since died and that another 2,900,000 represent duplicate accounts.

Liberace Ordered To Take Vacation

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 22 (AP)—Liberace today was under doctor's orders to vacation until Feb. 1 because of what his doctor termed "a mild and temporary heart strain due to lack of rest."

John J. Jacobs, the pianist's attorney, commented:

"There is no cause whatsoever for concern on the part of Liberace's legion of friends for his physical health."

CHARGE DROPPED—Florida yesterday dropped murder charges against Baltimore lawyer James T. Roberts, accused of slaying his 7-year-old daughter, Judith Ann.

Fierce Storms Batter North Europe Coast

LONDON, Dec. 22 (AP) — New storms roared on the battered coasts of northern Europe tonight while rescue vessels searched for 19 seamen feared lost on the 2,000-ton Belgian freighter Henri DeWeert.

Another vessel, the 1,317-ton Swedish Freighter Peta, believed lost with 21 men in last night's big blow, was located early tonight by search craft and her crew was reported safe. She was said to be helpless and leaking and rescue tugs set out immediately to save her crew before new gales struck.

Both ships were off the Dutch coast.

A rescue craft searching for the Henri DeWeert reported sighting a lifeboat but lost contact before it could determine whether anyone was aboard. The last message from the Belgian freighter said she was sinking.

Coastal residents of northern Europe got a breathing spell late today after hurricanes and high seas pierced dikes and wrecked shipping, but weather forecasters warned that more storms were on the way.

From 12 to 15 ships were reported in trouble along the Belgian, Dutch and north German coasts. Some of them were 7,000-ton freighters registered from at least a half dozen nations. Most of the vessels reported minor damages and were expected to make port before the new storms hit.

Some 60 ships took shelter along the eastern English coast.

The 2,764-ton Danish freighter Cimbria sustained a broken propeller 80 miles north of the Dutch islet of Terschelling, but a salvage company reported a tug had taken her in tow and that all aboard were safe.

Winds in last night's storm, which occasionally reached 112 miles an hour, abated early tonight and the mountainous waves leveled out. One observer flying over the area said, however, "the sea looked like soap suds. It was beaten to froth and very angry."

The Dutch dike system, already pierced in at least six places, would be severely tried by mounting seas. Dikes were hastily repaired today and a full scale watch was maintained to fight any repetition of the flood disaster of February, 1953, which cost almost 1,400 lives and about 250 million dollars.

CASABLANCA, French Morocco, Dec. 22 (AP)—A terrorist's bomb exploded in the center of the European quarter today, killing a nurse and injuring six other persons.

New Automobile Models Keep Living Index High

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—Living costs went down a jot in November, the government reported today—unless you bought a new car.

All goods and services considered, the Bureau of Labor Statistics' consumer price index rose about one-tenth of 1 per cent in November. It would have dropped but for the unveiling of 1955 automobile models.

There was little change in list prices for new cars, but the index jumped because 1954 models had been selling at substantial discounts.

Food prices slid 0.6 per cent to the lowest index level since January 1951. Costs of appliances and home furnishings also fell off.

The aggregate November index was 114.6 per cent of the 1947-49 average, just one-tenth of a point above the October index. It compared with an index of 115.0 for November 1953. And it was down 0.8 of an index point from the all-time high of October 1953, representing a gain of almost a penny in the dollar's buying power.

It was still 12.6 per cent higher than June 1950, right before the Korean War began shoving prices upward.

Average take-home pay for factory workers rose 61 cents to a new peak of $60.45 a week in November, the bureau reported. Their pay check was worth more than ever before in buying power, despite the fractional increase in the price index.

Demos Press Airing About Manpower Cut

Stevenson Doesn't Think Nation Should Reduce Its Defenses

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP) — Democrats in Congress served notice today they will demand a full airing of President Eisenhower's plan to cut the manpower strength of the active armed forces.

Both in the Senate and in the House, Democrats who will take control Jan. 5 raised questions about the announced plan for a 400,000-man reduction in the next 18 months.

In similar vein Adlai E. Stevenson said he saw "little prospect that we can safely reduce our defenses or relax our guard" in 1955.

Doesn't Think War Near

The 1952 Democratic candidate for president added, however, he does not regard war as imminent. Stevenson gave his views in a symposium conducted by Look Magazine.

On Capitol Hill, Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont), a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said: "If we are going to coexist with Communists, we better coexist with a position of strength—if we want to survive."

Another committee member, Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala), said in a separate interview that "we can't get bargain counter defense."

Mansfield, and Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) said Secretary of Defense Wilson and other top military figures undoubtedly will be called before the Armed Services, Foreign Relations and Appropriations committees to give a full explanation of the cutback. Kefauver is a member of the Armed Services Committee.

At the other side of the Capitol Rep. Vinson (D-Ga), in line for chairmanship of the House Armed Services Committee, said that group definitely will call Wilson soon after the new session opens.

Wilson has said President Eisenhower approved the manpower reduction because of a belief the danger of war has lessened. Secretary of State Dulles gave a seemingly different explanation yesterday, saying the cut is made possible by a growing advantage on the part of this country in nuclear weapons. The State Department said it saw no conflict between Dulles' and Wilson's views.

Wilson Announced Cut

Wilson announced earlier in the week that the regular armed forces would be cut from 3,218,000 to 2,815,000 by mid-1956. He said the deepest reductions would come in the regular Army, with smaller cuts in the Navy and Marines, while the Air Force would be expanded slightly.

Mansfield said he fears that the nation would "sacrifice vital strength in the name of economy" under the administration's proposal.

"I have opposed past reductions by this administration," he said. "The Army was cut back from 21 to 19 divisions and then down again to 17. With this additional cut I don't know where we are going to get the power we need if an emergency arises."

Prophet's Sister Says He's Sick

LANSING, Mich., Dec. 22 (AP)—A sister of Dr. Charles Laughead, 44, who predicted that half the continent would be wiped away Tuesday, Dec. 21, today petitioned the court to have him and his wife committed to a mental hospital.

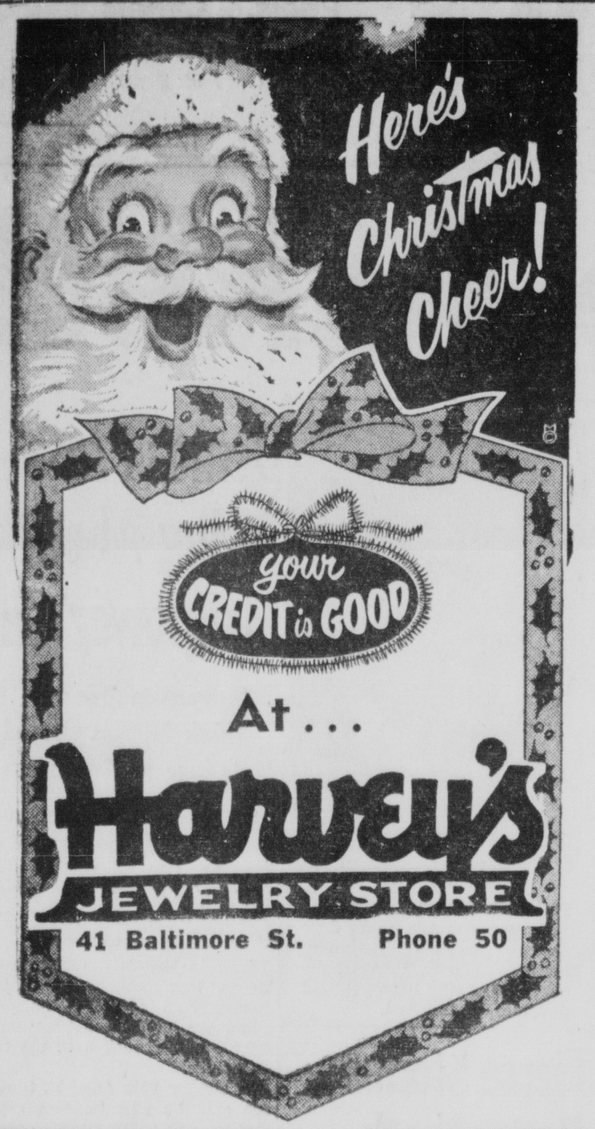

Separate petitions against the former Michigan State College physician and his wife, Lillian, were filed in the Ingham County Probate Court today by his sister, Miss Margaret V. Laughead, of Des Moines, Iowa.

The petitions asked that the husband and wife "be admitted to the Kalamazoo State Hospital or Traverse City State Hospital (both mental institutions) as mentally ill."

Judge John McClellan said the sister also indicated she would seek to have a guardian appointed to look after the Laughead estate and to care for the couple's three children.

Court attendants said a hearing on the petitions was tentatively scheduled for Monday if the couple could be reached by that time.

Contacted at Oak Park, Ill., where he reportedly is seeking employment, Dr. Laughead said he had "No comment."

Deranged Suitor Surrenders Woman Held For 25 Hours

WAKE FOREST, N. C., Dec. 22 (AP)—Twenty-four hours of horror—held at pistol point by a deranged suitor—ended this afternoon for tiny, 30-year-old Jessie Elizabeth Davis. She was unharmed. Her family rushed her home and to bed under a doctor's care.

The suitor, 31-year-old Graham Timberlake, a textile worker, was hurried away to the Dix Hill State Mental Hospital at Raleigh.

Disarmed, Timberlake was meek and cooperative. He said:

"It was just one of those things you do and are sorry for afterward. Everybody's been nice to me—nicer than they should be, to tell the truth, and I appreciate it.

"I am feeling a whole lot better."

He posed willingly for photographers.

But for a full day and night he held the dark-haired, 100-pound former WAC a prisoner in the "warp room" of the Royal Cotton mill here, where both worked. Most of the time he kept a .25 caliber automatic pistol pointed at her and threatened to kill her if anyone interfered.

Despite the danger, Jessie Elizabeth held up well through the long ordeal, her elder sister, Petronia, reported. She became nervous this morning—and so did Timberlake — as the long hours wore on.

Officers and friends of both Timberlake and Miss Davis pleaded constantly for her release. He frequently permitted some of his friends and a doctor and Petronia to enter the room where he stayed in an area barricaded by packing cases.

One man placed an arm about the deranged man, but was afraid to make a further move.

Officers tried to trick him with drugged food and drink, but Timberlake refused both. He did accept undrugged soft drinks, the only sustenance he had during the 24 hours.

Dr. George W. Corbin Jr., of nearby Rollsville was allowed to enter the room during the early hours of the morning to give some food and a sedative to Miss Davis. About 11 a.m., Miss Davis came out of the room and the report went out that she was saved. But it turned out Dr. Corbin was being held as a hostage while she made a quick trip to the restroom.

The siege started about 11:45 a.m., Tuesday when Timberlake, a 5 foot 8 inch, 130-pounder, suddenly seized Miss Davis and forced her into the previously prepared room.

Petronia said Timberlake was jealous of an unidentified soldier who had accompanied the body of a Davis brother returned from Korea. Actually, Petronia said, there was nothing between the two and Jessie Elizabeth had seen the soldier only twice. Timberlake was reported to have said he would release the woman if the soldier were brought in so he could kill him.

Winter Snow Blankets East

[By The Associated Press]

Winter came Wednesday with a mixture of snow, fog, rain and cold air over most of the northern half of the nation.

It favored the East especially, blanketing parts of New England with a heavy snowfall and dropping temperatures along the seaboard as far south as the resort areas of Florida.

Some 12 persons lost their lives during the New England storm. Up to 16 inches fell in Maine and more than a foot was reported in Cape Cod.

Watertown, in New York State, registered one below zero early Wednesday.

Winter started at 4:25 a.m. EST, Wednesday, the shortest day of the year.

Low temperatures sent Floridians rushing to buy oil, gas, electric heating units and cordwood to ward off the cold. The Miami Weather Bureau warned that the cold snap probably would last through Christmas Day.

Heavy frosts were reported in Florida's truck farming area and low temperatures extended to the East Coast resort cities. Early Wednesday DeLand reported a low of 25, Dania 34, North Miami 33, and Ocala 26.

Basic Research Neglect Hinders Progress In U. S.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—A committee of educators and scientists reported today "the progress and security of the nation may be in jeopardy" through neglect of basic research in the wake of World War II.

The committee, set up by the American Council on Education, also found too much stress is put by government officials on research secrecy. It said too-strict security practices "result in the creation of a scientific Maginot line rather than in achieving security by scientific progress."

The 13-member committee, headed by president Virgil M. Hancher of the State University of Iowa, was set up more than two years ago to study the impact on colleges and universities of research sponsored by the government, private industry and other outside interests.

The American Council on Education is made up of national education associations. Its president, Arthur S. Adams, served on the committee which surveyed research problems.

The group's 90-page report said in part:

"The committee is fearful that, since World War II, proper emphasis on basic research has not been maintained and that this trend is reflecting itself both in the quality of scholars being turned out at the present time and in the diminished contribution to fundamental knowledge on which future application and development must be based; hence, the progress and security of the nation may be in jeopardy."

President Seeks Bipartisan Harmony

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—President Eisenhower has instructed his Cabinet members to consult with congressional leaders of both parties on development of administration programs in the fields of foreign policy, national defense and foreign economic aid. This is a move for bipartisan harmony.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, told newsmen today in response to questions that the President gave the instructions verbally at a Cabinet meeting last Friday.

The burglar alarm, unfortunately, was turned off at the time.

February Army Draft Reduced Almost In Half

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—The Army today reduced its February draft call from 20,000 to 11,000 men in line with the Defense Department decision to hasten the cutback in Army forces.

Total Army manpower strength on June 30 is scheduled to drop to 1,100,000, and to an even one million 18 months from now.

The reduction announced by Defense Secretary Wilson will leave the Army with 73,000 fewer men on its active rolls by June than the current military budget had provided for.

Argentina Divorce Measure Is Signed

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Dec. 22 (AP)—President Juan D. Peron signed a bill today legalizing divorce for the first time in this predominantly Roman Catholic country. The Church had appealed to him to veto the bill.

Basic Research Neglect Hinders Progress In U. S.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—A committee of educators and scientists reported today "the progress and security of the nation may be in jeopardy" through neglect of basic research in the wake of World War II.

The committee, set up by the American Council on Education, also found too much stress is put by government officials on research secrecy. It said too-strict security practices "result in the creation of a scientific Maginot line rather than in achieving security by scientific progress."

The 13-member committee, headed by president Virgil M. Hancher of the State University of Iowa, was set up more than two years ago to study the impact on colleges and universities of research sponsored by the government, private industry and other outside interests.

The American Council on Education is made up of national education associations. Its president, Arthur S. Adams, served on the committee which surveyed research problems.

The group's 90-page report said in part:

"The committee is fearful that, since World War II, proper emphasis on basic research has not been maintained and that this trend is reflecting itself both in the quality of scholars being turned out at the present time and in the diminished contribution to fundamental knowledge on which future application and development must be based; hence, the progress and security of the nation may be in jeopardy."

President Seeks Bipartisan Harmony

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—President Eisenhower has instructed his Cabinet members to consult with congressional leaders of both parties on development of administration programs in the fields of foreign policy, national defense and foreign economic aid. This is a move for bipartisan harmony.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, told newsmen today in response to questions that the President gave the instructions verbally at a Cabinet meeting last Friday.

Robber Uses Alarm Wire To Tie Victim

NEWARK, N.J., Dec. 22 (AP)—When a robber stuck up a radio shop here, he introduced a bit of irony—by tying up the victim with wire ripped from the shop's burglar system.

Then he made off last night with $60 taken from Louis Landau, operator of the Court Radio Shop.

The burglar alarm, unfortunately, was turned off at the time.

February Army Draft Reduced Almost In Half

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP)—The Army today reduced its February draft call from 20,000 to 11,000 men in line with the Defense Department decision to hasten the cutback in Army forces.

Total Army manpower strength on June 30 is scheduled to drop to 1,100,000, and to an even one million 18 months from now.

The reduction announced by Defense Secretary Wilson will leave the Army with 73,000 fewer men on its active rolls by June than the current military budget had provided for.

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 (AP)—Dag Hammarskjold, secretary general of the United Nations, said today he accomplished "exactly what I wanted to do" in conferring this week in Stockholm with the Red Chinese ambassador, Gen. Keng Piao.

Argentina Divorce Measure Is Signed

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Dec. 22 (AP)—President Juan D. Peron signed a bill today legalizing divorce for the first time in this predominantly Roman Catholic country. The Church had appealed to him to veto the bill.

Passage of the measure by large Peronista majorities in both houses of Congress was regarded as an outgrowth of the controversy between the Peron regime and some leaders of the Roman Catholic Church. Peron has charged them with trying to undermine his government.

Gov. Speaks At Ceremony In Annapolis

ANNAPOLIS, Dec. 22 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin expressed a Christmas wish today that faith in the brotherhood of man may yet "penetrate the Iron Curtain and encourage the depressed people enslaved there and help them to recover their lost freedoms."

"That is the meaning of Christmas," the governor said in a brief speech at a gathering of state employes in the State Office Building, where a 52-voice chorus from the comptroller's office sang Christmas carols.

"That is the inspiration for the glad carols you sing here, and for the hope that swells in our hearts—the unyielding faith that peace must come and stay—because He said it would in the brotherhood of man."

The governor said it was one of the few christmases of peace for any of those present who were born in the mid-1930s and remarked that "the danger of new wars has not yet passed."

"We who celebrate the birth of the Prince of Peace in this season do not hate the downtrodden people of Russia, China or satellite countries," he said. "As followers of Him who prescribed goodwill among men, we cannot hate our fellowmen.

"We can and we do despise the oppressive systems of government under which they are forced to live. We can and do resent the closing of their churches or the limiting of their religious devotions. . . .

"The faith that we maintain is not only our hope for keeping our freedom; it is their hope for acquiring freedom and dignity," he said.

McKeldin presented a miniature wooden cross, made from a fallen limb of the 300-year-old Wye Oak on the Eastern Shore, to Comptroller J. Millard Tawes, whose organization has sponsored the Christmas festival each year since 1939.

Tawes also extended Christmas greetings to the audience and thanked Prof. Adolph Torovsky, composer of "Softly the Stars Were Shining" for being present to conduct the singing of his carol.

It was one of nine sung by the chorus from the steps in the lobby of the State Office Building.

Liquor Profits Show Decline

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec. 22 (AP)—Profits realized by the State Liquor Commission during the 1953-54 fiscal year declined $600,000 from the previous year, and Chairman Luther Carson suggested there would be a cutback in personnel.

That was included in the commission's annual statement, released today by Guy E. Williams, chief finance and stock control officer for the agency.

Williams' report showed that a net profit of $7,268,334 was realized during 1953-54 on the sale of $26,500,000 worth of merchandise.

This compared to a profit for the previous fiscal year of $7,872,137 on the sale of $28,300,000 in bottled goods.

Carson, who said the decline in profits stemmed from "the economy of the state especially the coal situation which affects all of us," added that "we are going to have to reduce store personnel some."

Submits Record Budget

HAGERSTOWN, Dec. 22 (AP) — Washington County Auditor John K. Baker III today submitted to the county commissioners a record 1955 budget of nearly $5-million calling for a tax rate of $2.40, an increase of 90 cents.

United Nations experts estimate that half the wood taken from forests is used for heating and cooking.

Magistrate Says He Won't Resign During Campaign

BALTIMORE, Dec. 22 (AP)—Chief Magistrate William F. Laukaitis said today he is going to ignore a directive by Gov. McKeldin and keep his job while campaigning for the Republican mayor's nomination.

Laukaitis said he "did not plan to resign, did not indicate that he was going to resign and would not resign."

He said the governor's letter of last April that judges should resign if they run for office was not compulsory.

The governor said "the general public would undoubtedly feel that there is inconsistency between the duties of a trial magistrate and the activities of a campaigning candidate."

South Is Favored

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 22 (AP) — The South was established today as a 7-point favorite to win the North-South college All-Star Football game here Christmas night and Rebel Coach Andy Gustafson agreed with the oddsmakers.

"They'll have a devil of a time trying to stop our backs, Gustafson said happily. "We'll beat 'em—three touchdowns to two."

Castellani And Mims To Meet In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Dec. 22 (AP)-Rocky Castellani and Holly Mims of Washington, D. C., will fight a 12-rounder here Jan. 12 with the winner getting a crack at Carl (Bobo) Olson's middleweight title in Cleveland next spring, Promoter Larry Atkins announced today.

Since he moved to Cleveland, Rocky has dropped only one fight—a bout with Olson in California last August when he had Olson on the canvas, but the champ came back to win by a technical knockout.

Mims has 12 straight victories to his credit—six this year. At 25, Mims is four years younger than Castellani.

South Is Favored

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 22 (AP) — The South was established today as a 7-point favorite to win the North-South college All-Star Football game here Christmas night and Rebel Coach Andy Gustafson agreed with the oddsmakers.

"They'll have a devil of a time trying to stop our backs, Gustafson said happily. "We'll beat 'em —three touchdowns to two."

Castellani And Mims To Meet In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Dec. 22 (AP)-Rocky Castellani and Holly Mims of Washington, D. C., will fight a 12-rounder here Jan. 12 with the winner getting a crack at Carl (Bobo) Olson's middleweight title in Cleveland next spring, Promoter Larry Atkins announced today.

Since he moved to Cleveland, Rocky has dropped only one fight —a bout with Olson in California last August when he had Olson on the canvas, but the champ came back to win by a technical knockout.

Mims has 12 straight victories to his credit—six this year. At 25, Mims is four years younger than Castellani.

Urge Motorists Be Fingerprinted

BALTIMORE, Dec. 22 (AP)—Fingerprinting of motor vehicle drivers is one of six proposals relating to traffic laws that the Maryland Law Enforcement Officers Association will urge upon the legislature next year.

Traffic Magistrate Harry L. Katz said the ideas were recommended by the legislative committee of the association. He is committee chairman.

Fingerprinting is aimed at catching drivers whose licenses are revoked and get another by using an assumed name.

The committee also advocates:

Periodic medical examinations to find drivers who have become "menaces on the highway."

Automatic revocation of licenses of persons sent to mental hospitals.

A system to make records of convictions available promptly to traffic magistrates.

A ban on sale of cars to teenagers without driving licenses.

Greater latitude for magistrates to change sentences involving fines less than $15.

Plan New Station

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 22 (AP)—A new Morgantown radio station, WCLG, will begin operation Monday, Manager C. Leslie Golliday announced.

Some 83 million tons of cargo went through the Suez canal in 1952.

State Unemployment Benefits On Increase

BALTIMORE, Dec. 22 (AP) — The cost of unemployment benefits continues at the rate of more than half a million dollars a week.

The Department of Employment Security reported today that it gave out 21,661 checks amounting to $534,596 last week.

That was $27,634 more than the week before and contrasted sharply with 12,886 checks for $304,829 in the same week of 1953.

The only sign of a drop was in new claims and that was slight. New claims last week were 4,809, 158 fewer than the previous week.

Dorchester Votes Special Investigators

CAMBRIDGE, Dec. 22 (AP) — The Dorchester County Commissioners today voted to provide a special crime investigator for the county to get "better law enforcement in the next four years."

The move came against a background of frequently-expressed dissatisfaction with the crime situation in the Eastern Shore county and with law enforcement. M. Baker Robbins, chairman of the commissioners, who announced the move today, had commented last August that he was "not satisfied with law enforcement in Dorchester County."

Minor Offenders Get Yule Freedom

HAGERSTOWN, Dec. 22 (AP) — Nine minor offenders will be released from the Washington County jail on Christmas Eve because Magistrate Paul Ottinger planned it that way.

Ottinger tailored normally longer sentences so that the offenders would get out on the holiday eve because he believes serving time on Christmas is "double punishment."

Rev. Cogan Rites Planned Monday

EMMITSBURG, Md., Dec. 22 (AP) —A solemn mass will be said Monday at Mount St. Mary's College for the Rev. John F. Cogan, Jr., former dean of the college who died Tuesday in Brooklyn, N. Y.

The body is to lie in state at the college Saturday and Sunday. The mass will be at 10:30 a.m. Monday.

Father Cogan, 63, was a professor at the college for 40 years and dean for 15. He was a native of Wilmington, Del.

Harrington To Seek Mayor's Post

BALTIMORE, Dec. 22 (AP) — T. Barton Harrington, chairman of the Maryland Democratic State Central Committee, announced tonight he will seek the nomination for mayor in the March primary.

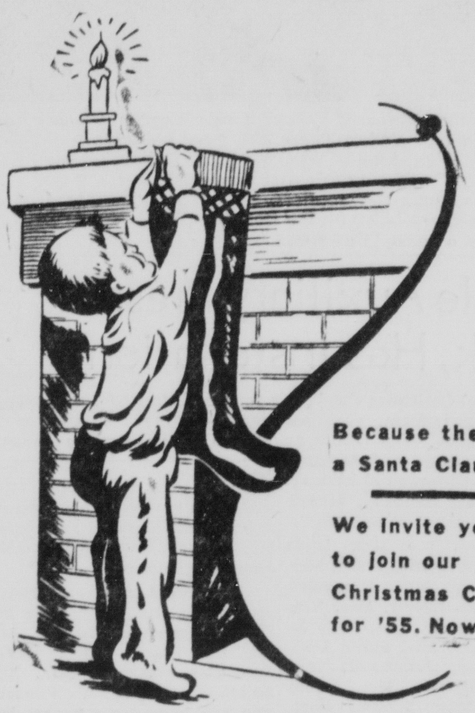

The 57-year-old attorney and former speaker of the House of Delegates became the fifth candidate to announce he will oppose Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro's bid for renomination to a third term.

Also in the race are State Sen. Francis X. Dippel, City Council President Arthur B. Price, former Council President George Sellmayer and Harry Kemper, East Baltimore grocer.

Harrington declared himself in the fight after a meeting of party leaders who had formed a coalition in search of a man to support. The coalition included State Sen. George W. Della and Joseph M. Wyatt of the 6th Legislative District, House Speaker John C. Luber of the 5th District, a 3rd District group including Rep. George H. Fallon, Patrick O'Malley and Richard Coggins.

Less rainfall occurs in Arica, Chile, than in any other place in the world.

Urge Motorists Be Fingerprinted

BALTIMORE, Dec. 22 (AP)—Fingerprinting of motor vehicle drivers is one of six proposals relating to traffic laws that the Maryland Law Enforcement Officers Association will urge upon the legislature next year.

Traffic Magistrate Harry L. Katz said the ideas were recommended by the legislative committee of the association. He is committee chairman.

Fingerprinting is aimed at catching drivers whose licenses are revoked and get another by using an assumed name.

The committee also advocates:

Periodic medical examinations to find drivers who have become "menaces on the highway."

Automatic revocation of licenses of persons sent to mental hospitals.

A system to make records of convictions available promptly to traffic magistrates.

A ban on sale of cars to teenagers without driving licenses.

Greater latitude for magistrates to change sentences involving fines less than $15.

Plan New Station

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 22 (AP)—A new Morgantown radio station, WCLG, will begin operation Monday, Manager C. Leslie Golliday announced.

Some 83 million tons of cargo went through the Suez canal in 1952.

State Unemployment Benefits On Increase

BALTIMORE, Dec. 22 (AP) — The cost of unemployment benefits continues at the rate of more than half a million dollars a week.

The Department of Employment Security reported today that it gave out 21,661 checks amounting to $534,596 last week.

That was $27,634 more than the week before and contrasted sharply with 12,886 checks for $304,829 in the same week of 1953.

The only sign of a drop was in new claims and that was slight.

New claims last week were 4,809, 158 fewer than the previous week.

Dorchester Votes Special Investigators

CAMBRIDGE, Dec. 22 (AP) — The Dorchester County Commissioners today voted to provide a special crime investigator for the county to get "better law enforcement in the next four years."

The move came against a background of frequently-expressed dissatisfaction with the crime situation in the Eastern Shore county and with law enforcement. M. Baker Robbins, chairman of the commissioners, who announced the move today, had commented last August that he was "not satisfied with law enforcement in Dorchester County."

Minor Offenders Get Yule Freedom

HAGERSTOWN, Dec. 22 (AP) — Nine minor offenders will be released from the Washington County jail on Christmas Eve because Magistrate Paul Ottinger planned it that way.

Ottinger tailored normally longer sentences so that the offenders would get out on the holiday eve because he believes serving time on Christmas is "double punishment."

Rev. Cogan Rites Planned Monday

EMMITSBURG, Md., Dec. 22 (AP)—A solemn mass will be said Monday at Mount St. Mary's College for the Rev. John F. Cogan, Jr., former dean of the college who died Tuesday in Brooklyn, N. Y.

The body is to lie in state at the college Saturday and Sunday. The mass will be at 10:30 a.m. Monday.

Father Cogan, 63, was a professor at the college for 40 years and dean for 15. He was a native of Wilmington, Del.

Harrington To Seek Mayor's Post

BALTIMORE, Dec. 22 (AP) — T. Barton Harrington, chairman of the Maryland Democratic State Central Committee, announced tonight he will seek the nomination for mayor in the March primary.

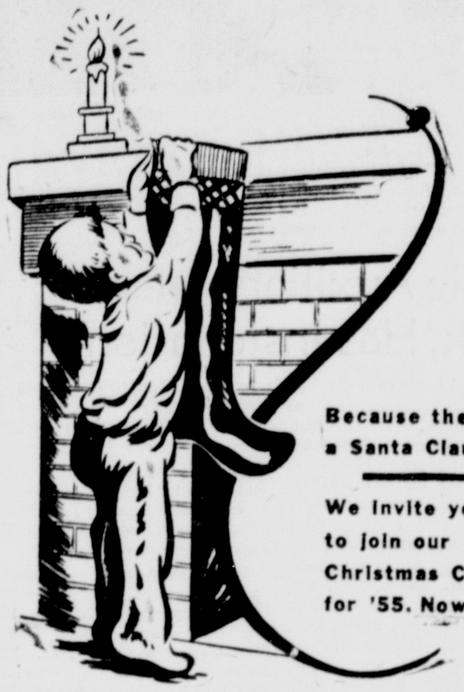

The 57-year-old attorney and former speaker of the House of Delegates became the fifth candidate to announce he will oppose Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro's bid for renomination to a third term.

Also in the race are State Sen. Francis X. Dippel, City Council President Arthur B. Price, former Council President George Sellmayer and Harry Kemper, East Baltimore grocer.

Harrington declared himself in the fight after a meeting of party leaders who had formed a coalition in search of a man to support. The coalition included State Sen. George W. Della and Joseph M. Wyatt of the 6th Legislative District, House Speaker John C. Luber of the 5th District, a 3rd District group including Rep. George H. Fallon, Patrick O'Malley and Richard Coggins.

Capper Argues Case In Appeals Court

Walter C. Capper, local attorney, argued a case before the Maryland Court of Appeals recently which involved an unusual dispute between a mother and her daughter. No decision has yet been reached by the high court.

The case was heard before the appeals court on a dissent from the Washington County Circuit Court at Hagerstown concerning a suit brought by Teresa I. Sprecher against her mother, Myron B. Sprecher, both of Hagerstown.

The suit was brought by the daughter to set aside a deed, conveying a bungalow in Hagerstown, which she made in 1950 to a trustee who subsequently conveyed the property to the mother and daughter as joint tenants with the right of survivorship.

The Washington County Circuit Court filed a decree in April, 1954, setting aside the deed on the ground that Teresa I. Sprecher was only 18 years of age when the deed was made and disaffirmed the deed after arriving at age 21.

Myron B. Sprecher and her husband, Frank B. Sprecher, were divorced October 8, 1948 and in arrangements for settlement of their property rights, the bungalow was conveyed to trustees who later conveyed same to the daughter, Teresa I. Sprecher. It was alleged the deed of October 8, 1948 conveyed a fee simple title to Teresa I. Sprecher, but her mother contended the deed was only for the purpose of conveying her husband's one-half interest to the daughter. It was contended by the mother in the Court of Appeals that the daughter's deed endeavored to correct the mistake made in the deed of October 8, 1948, returning the property to mother and daughter as joint tenants. The bungalow is said to be worth from $10,000 to $15,000.

Capper and Thomas N. Berry, attorneys, of Cumberland, argued the case in the Court of Appeals for the mother, and T. Aubrey Kemp, attorney, Hagerstown, argued the case for the daughter.

The indicated 1954 yield per acre of important crops in Ohio include corn, 60 bushels per acre; oats, 45 bushels; sugar beets, 13 tons per acre, and tobacco, 1,600 pounds per acre.

WINS CONTEST—Gary Blake, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Blake, 626 Montgomery Avenue, and Sixth Grade student at St. Mary's Parochial School, won third prize in the statewide essay contest conducted by the Department of Maryland, Catholic War Veterans. The essay topic was "What Mary Immaculate Means to Me." He received a $25 defense bond.

They are Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz, City Attorney Thomas B. Finan and City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said the Washington plant was built by Thompson-Starrett Company of Chicago which submitted the second lowest bid of $1,543,596 for the local plant which is to be located in South End near Offutt Street.

Low bidder on the local project is Moyer Brothers of Altoona with $1,531,006. In all, seven bids were submitted.

Eves also announced that he and Nuzum would meet with representatives of the State Roads Commission this afternoon and Robert T. Regester, Baltimore engineer who designed the sewage treatment plant, in Baltimore.

The Cumberland Brewing Company, the Queen City Brewing Company and holders of wholesale beer and liquor licenses in Cumberland and Allegany County have been reminded by Roger V. Laynor, chief of the Alcoholic Beverages Division, Maryland Comptroller of the Treasury's office, of the state regulation prohibiting the distribution of Christmas gifts to holders of retail licenses or their employes.

"Section 106 of Article 2B," Laynor states in letters received by the breweries and holders of wholesalers' licenses, "provides it shall be unlawful for any holder of a manufacturer's or wholesaler's license or non-resident dealer's permit or anyone connected with the business of such holder to lend any money or other thing of value or make any gift or offer any gratuity to any retail dealer, and it shall also be unlawful for any such person to furnish any sign, display or other form of advertisement of any value in excess of $5, advertising the products of a particular manufacturer or wholesaler or non-resident dealer to the holder of any retail license issued under the provisions of Article 2B.

"The penalty for violating this provision of the law is suspension or revocation of license and upon conviction the law provides punishment by a fine of not more than $5,000, or by imprisonment for not more than two years, or both fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court. This penalty is also applicable to any retail dealer who accepts anything unlawfully given, offered, furnished or loaned.

"In order to avoid the risk of committing a violation of Section 106, the opinion of this office should be solicited in cases where doubt could exist as to whether a contemplated idea or promotion constitutes a form of advertisement or gift."

To Visit Washington

Mayor and Mrs. Roy W. Eves will spend the Christmas holiday with their daughter, Elizabeth, in Washington. The Mayor said they will return Sunday night.

Astor Cab Drivers Given Bonus For Safety Record

As the result of an excellent safety record during the past year drivers for the Astor Cab Company have received a bonus amounting to $1,921, according to Fred W. Jenkins, operator of the firm.

The safety plan was inaugurated three years ago and since that time the rate of accidents in which cab drivers have been involved has dropped steadily.

During the past year the Astor Cab Company drivers had only six accidents which were attributable to their negligence one way or another.

The plan operates as follows:

Each driver contributes 25 cents each day to the fund and the company makes a similar donation. Any accident which costs $100 or less is paid from the fund. At the end of the year the balance is distributed to the drivers.

One tangible result, outside the safety record and bonus which the drivers receive, was the winning of an award given by the National Taxicab Association for cab companies in cities of 25,000 to 50,000 population during the past year.

The six accidents which drivers had last year and which were paid for from the fund amounted to damages of only $485. The cabbies during the year drove a total of 641,211 miles and their accident rate was figured out at only one per 106,870 miles of operation.

Jenkins said the drivers received an average of 46 cents for each 25 cents they contributed during the year. After the bonus funds were distributed the other day the drivers voted unanimously to continue the plan for 1955. Jenkins operates 15 cabs and has been in the taxi business in Cumberland for more than 20 years. The average payment to each of the drivers was $115, Jenkins said.

the Allegany Trades Council.

Officials of the District 16 Improvement Association met with the Delegation on December 3 to discuss the possibilities of getting Cumberland water.

Want Clean Stream

The Upper Potomac River Board that night requested a program to reduce stream pollution, including the reduction of acid mine waste from pit and strip mines.

Later that night, William R. Carscaden requested study of proposed changes in state laws affecting automobile insurance and estates.

The legislators met December 6 with Thomas Nash and a McCoole delegation on a request for a constable in that area, but referred the group to the County Commissioners, who have power to act.

Improvements on Route 40 were discussed at a meeting with the Route 40 Association that same night, and with Westernport officials on a bond issue which may be needed there.

The Delegation met with the Mt. Savage School PTA and later with the PTA group and county school officials concerning repairs and an athletic field for the school.

Ask Safer Hunting

At a meeting asked by Frieds Aware of Handicapped Children, they heard a discussion on needs of a location and instructors for specialized training needed by badly handicapped children.

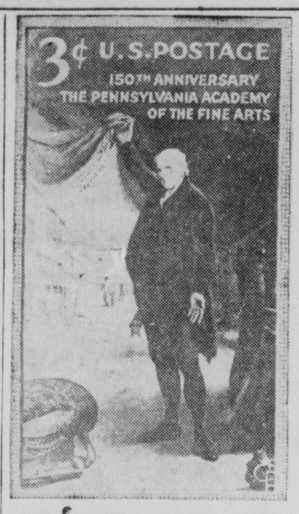

Public welfare needs were aired at a meeting with the County Welfare Board December 17. That night, the Western Maryland Wildlife Federation appealed for a legislative program which includes safer hunting, and the Police and Firemen's Welfare Association presented requests for several laws, including one to make heart trouble an occupational disease.

The last meetings were with area officials of the Maryland Nurses Association relating to state-wide legislation, and with the Mayor and Council of Cumberland on problems incidental to constitutional home rule.

Russia Threatens To Use The Stick

For months the Kremlin tried the carrot in its effort to keep the North Atlantic nations from adding German strength to their defensive alliance. It changed some of its unfriendly ways, talked up "peaceful co-existence," moved to increase West-East trade. This method failed, for although the European Defense Community fell by the wayside it was replaced by the Paris pacts. So now the Kremlin is using the stick to prevent ratification of these treaties.

Or perhaps it would be more accurate to say that the Kremlin is using the threat of the stick. So far it has not taken any action, except to call the Soviet-dominated nations together and use them as a sounding board for Soviet talk of building up stronger Communist forces. The Russian notes denouncing the Paris pacts, the attacks on the treaties in the Moscow press and over the Moscow radio, and Foreign Minister Molotov's recent speech all come under the head of words rather than deeds.

The words have been getting more sententious. Molotov, in his address at the Moscow rally celebrating the 10th anniversary of the Russian-French nonaggression pact, went so far as to say: "If need be, the Soviet Union will demonstrate its might and the righteousness of our cause." That sounds as though the Kremlin may be planning a stroke of some kind if the Paris pacts are made effective. He was careful, though, not to say what it might be.

There is no evidence that these threats are likely to have any more influence on the nations of Western Europe than the latest peace propaganda campaign has had. Progress toward ratification of the Paris pacts has been steady, despite French qualms over putting arms in German hands. But no one should discount the capacity of the Russians to make themselves thoroughly unpleasant. If they do not get their way, they will find means of making trouble.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Federal Republic

Away from Washington and New York, the nature of our federal republic stands out more clearly because one is in what may be defined as the states. In a city such as New York is, the State of New York is a secondary governmental organ. London and Rome are neighbors and Israel is an immediate problem. In California, the state is the center of significance and New York and Washington are remote places inhabited by predatory people. In Texas and other states, I encountered the same attitude.

The 10th Amendment to the Constitution is generally forgotten in these days of emphasis on the First and Fifth Amendments, but the theory which made the 10th so important in the early years of the republic persists in the continuing localisms. Americans, generally, are more concerned with problems of roads, water supply, garbage removal, smog and the upkeep of prisons and state hospitals than in the Paris Treaty or the supply of military aid to France, except as war may devastate beautiful cities or kill beloved sons.

The 10th Amendment to the Constitution, for those who do not recall it, reads:

"The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people."

During the early days of the New Deal, there was some idle talk of abolishing the states altogether and revising the geographic and political organization of the Country into more rational regions or provinces. Such concepts have been lost in the gossip of those days. The enormous federal grants to states for roads, education, welfare, agriculture, etc., it was feared, would, in time, lessen the authority of state governments. This has not come to pass. If anything, localism has increased and senators and governors are regarded favorably who squeeze most out of the federal sponge without any regard to the national interest.

Here in California, I find a pride in Vice President Nixon and Senator William Knowland not for what they do or say but because they are Californians who have gone east and made good. There is still a memory of Hiram Johnson because he did likewise, although there are some who attribute to his stubbornness the election of Woodrow Wilson which was not, to them, an unmitigated blessing.

Senator Knowland is being painted by the left wingers as a warmonger, but there are others who are proud of him for having stood up for his country's dignity when others were silent or frightened into peace at any price. The fact that Knowland's protest against complacency had to be considered and forced a conference of great minds in the White House has not passed without some pride in the accomplishments of a local boy who made good in distant places.

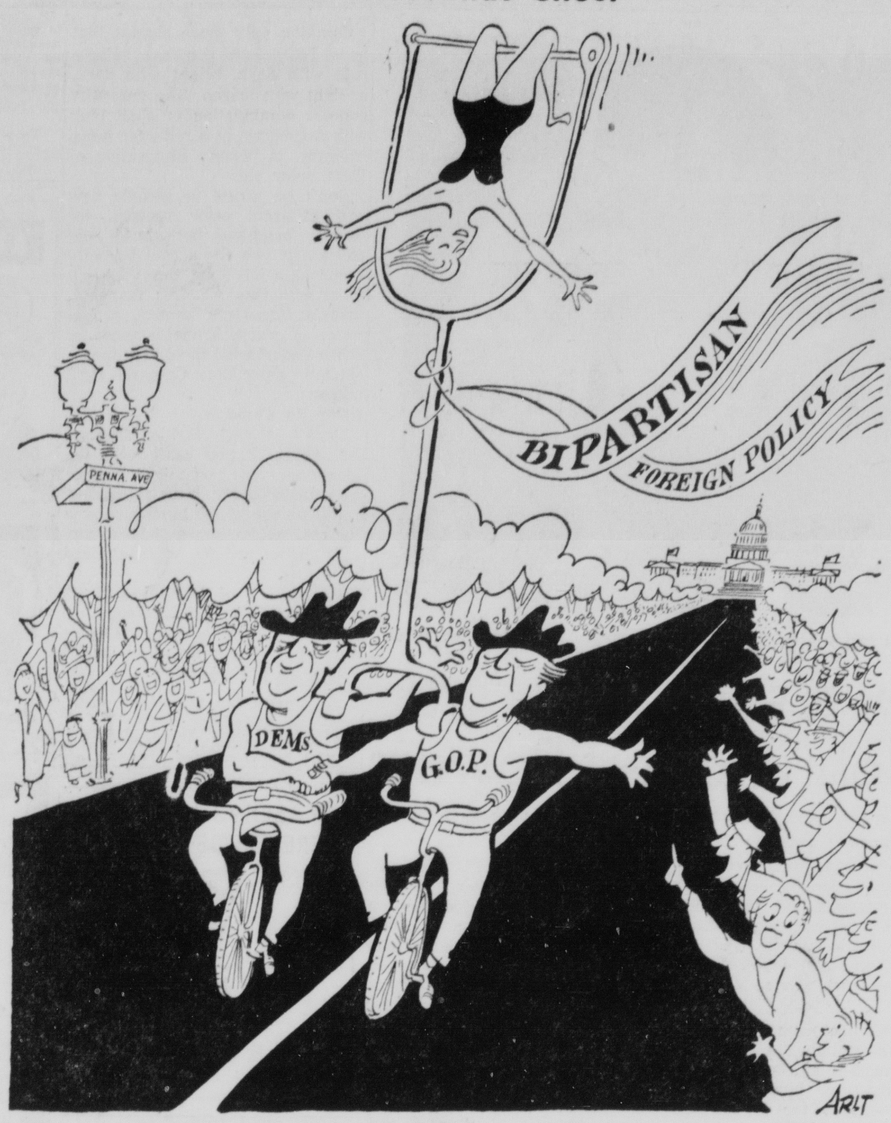

My colleague, Westbrook Pegler, often complains about news coverage and has become somewhat of a scourge against those of our profession who editorialize in the news columns. For his side of the case this must be said that the news coverage grows increasingly local as one moves farther away from New York and Washington. This is not limited to the newspapers. Radio newscasts tell more of what happens hereabouts than about what happens beyond the blue horizon. The localisms are reflected in the interest of the people.

The testimony concerning a large number of fairly prominent physicians and dentists, some of them important specialists, who are accused of banding together for Communist activities, fills columns of type in Los Angeles. In New York, we have become accustomed to this deviation in our body politic and tend to ask, "What! Another one of those?"

I could not help wondering, while I stood at the farfamed corner of Hollywood and Vine, where all the news is made to fill the gossip columns about glamorous Hollywood. I stood on that corner and nothing there equals the interest and excitement of 100 corners I can mention in New York. It is just a business street with an excessive amount of automobile traffic. There were no wolves, no starlets, no prowling automobiles, no fist fights. It was a quiet corner such as one might find in Great Barrington, Mass., in the spring. The movie colony really makes little news, but the press agents do well in evoking national interest in a local situatior

As Thousands Cheer

Party Strength Reflected In Total Vote Of Election

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The official vote for all candidates for the House of Representatives in the November 1954 election has now been tabulated, according to the Associated Press, and it shows that, if the electoral vote of the states had been cast to reflect the actual majority of the ballots in each state, the Democrats would have won the White House.

This will be countered by Republican arguments that, if President Eisenhower had been running, his personal popularity would have been enough to shift the margin. But the Gallup polls show that Mr. Eisenhower's percentage on the popularity scale after 22 months in the White House is now down to a new low of 57, having receded from a peak of 74 points as measured three months after he took office. Mr. Truman in 1949 after three months in office reached 87 per cent and after 22 months was down to 48 per cent.

Meaning of "Popularity" Differs.

There are wide misconceptions about the meaning of "popularity" when it is translated into votes. Few men in the White House ever enjoyed the personal popularity that William Howard Taft did when he was inaugurated in 1909 after a landslide Republican victory. But he got just eight electoral votes in running for re-election in 1912 when his party split on much the same issues as are cropping up today. He remained personally popular and enjoyed the affection of the country as an ex-president for many years. The people liked him but didn't vote for him for re-election in 1912.

Is Mr. Eisenhower's popularity going to be of the vote-getting kind? It did not provide victory for his party in the 1954 congressional election, even though he campaigned actively and specifically pleaded for the election of a Republican-controlled House and Senate. His request was denied in both cases.

The tabulation of the House vote is a better measure of the nation-wide voting than the Senate results in the 30 or more states where elections were held because it reveals the strength of the two major parties on a nationwide basis. In 1954 the Democrats outside the South trailed the Republicans by only 164,686, whereas in 1950 — the previous congressional election when no president was running — the Republicans had a margin of 1,610,000 outside the South.

Not Offsetting Losses

The thing which stands out is that the Republican party is getting weaker and the Democratic party is staging a comeback. The reason for the decline of the Republican strength is that it is losing the enthusiastic support of the conservative voters and failing to win enough "left wingers" from the Democratic party to offset the losses. Many Republican conservatives are not voting for the Democrats but are simply staying away from the polls.

Despite the concrete evidences of such a disintegration, President Eisenhower still is catering to the "left wing" in his party. The mail received by this correspondent from many parts of the country reflects a widespread belief by the letter writers that Mr. Eisenhower has conservative instincts but is bewildered by national issues in relation to politics. They feel he has become the puppet of a "left wing" group of advisers who want to push him further and further to the left on the theory that this is the way to win more "left wing" votes from the Democratic party. To this the Republican conservatives, now being called "right wingers," answer that the Democratic party is so dominated by the labor-union groups which furnish much of the money for the campaigns that it will not lose many "left wing" votes.

Mr. Eisenhower talks a great deal about "the middle way" and of developing a "progressive moderate" party, but his critics are saying he is revealed by his staff and those who feed stories to the press regularly as being an intense partisan inside the Republican party, while failing to exhibit any partisanship toward the Democratic party. The usual criticism heard is that he is reluctant to attack the party which was in power when he was given his opportunity for a high military command. But the real reason for the confusion in strategy is the misguided belief on the part of his "left wing" advisers that the way to win the next election is to cast off the "right wing" of the Republican party and hope for an offsetting gain from the Democratic party. The 1954 election figures show no such shift to be in process.

Some of the election totals are not what they appear to be on the surface. Thus, in New York State, Attorney General-elect Javits, who ran way ahead of his Republican colleagues on the state ticket, was the beneficiary of as conspicuous a job of knifing as Tammany and the Democratic party in New York State has ever done. For Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. ran far behind the victorious Averell Harriman — a circumstance not to be accounted for at all by assuming that Javits has a greater popularity in New York State than Senator Ives, who was defeated in his race for governor. It was Tammany's chance to bury the gubernatorial ambitions of young FDR once and for all.

Many local fights turned the tide last November, but when all is said and done the basic strength of a party is reflected in the total vote recorded in the congressional election as a whole.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

This is the happy spot on the calendared wall when we should be as gentle as well-cooked lamb.

Instead, as individuals and as a nation we're in trouble to our neck. And making waves.

It isn't our fault because the cards are stacked like lumber in the yard. We have leaned backward further than a juggler balancing a billiard cue on his chin.

Some years ago I was in a group picture of 500 people. The photographer said, "Let's make this interesting. Everybody think of something different."

Which unstate of mind describes the world and its neighbor. Everybody's thinking of something different.

Which just about verifies our observation that peace on earth and good will to men is an unworkable formula. So let's concentrate on getting home safely for Christmas Eve. Let's all think of the same thing.

It's the most wonderful night of the year in the most wonderful land of all time. Don't use the white line in the middle of the road for an extra lane.

Don't take one for the road. You may meet another fellow who has taken one for the cross-roads.

The spirit of Christmas is in a bag and not a bottle. Drive as if your life depended on it for it does.

Heart No Weakling In Performance Of Life's Work

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The heart begins to beat long before birth and continues as long as life persists. When it stops, death occurs. In this respect, life depends upon the function of this structure.

The heart is no mystery to the medical profession, as its muscle is much easier to study and examine than is the brain or liver. The organ, beginning as a hollw tube, becomes a four-chambered pump. By alternately contracting and relaxing, it sends blood through 12,000 miles of arteries, veins, and capillaries. In this way, nourishment and oxygen are distributed to every cell of the body.

The heart beats on an average, 100,000 times a day and gives 37 million contractions a year. The ticker of a 50-year-old has made 2 billion contractions and has pumped approximately 180,000 tons of blood. An engineer has estimated that this is equivalent to the output of a motor that has been driven a million miles. In this respect, the heart is tough and not half the weakling many believe it to be.

When does the heart muscle rest? Between each contraction. Since this interval is longer than the time required to contract, the organ usually rests twice as long as it works. On the other hand, exercise or emotional stress speeds up the rate at the expense of the rest period. When this takes place, the structure works twice as much as it rests.

How is the beat initiated? The initial impulse comes from a nerve center, called the pacemaker, located high in the wall of the right auricle. This node is like a timer, sending out rhythmical electrical impulses that fan out like the ripples created by dropping a pebble into still water.

The node has connections with the regular nervous system but can act on its own if necessary. The impulses carry an electrical charge that is easy to detect with the electrocardiogram. Irregularities of the beat often results from disturbanes of this delicate mechanism.

Infection and various drugs, such as caffeine and nicotine, affect this unique electrical system. Some irregularities are remedied easily; others are made harmless by slowing the pulse. This explains why the heart flipflops when too much coffee, tea, or tobacco is used. Disturbances of rhythm also occur during rheumatic fever.

It is surprising how often irregularities may be present without producing symptoms. The opposite also is noted; individuals with certain types of unever beat may be unaware of the condition until the rhythm corrects itself; they had become accustomed to the erratic beat and are disturbed for some time after it becomes regular.

SPINAL DEFORMITY

C. Y. writes: Is hunchback hereditary?

REPLY

No. The familiar humpback of 25 or more years ago is becoming scarcer all the time. Credit for the reduction in tuberculosis of the spine (the cause of hunchback) goes to the pasteurization of milk and to the efforts of our dairymen and public health officials to eradicate the infection from cattle. In addition, we have better treatment of this spinal disorder should it occur.

WHAT'S FOR BREAKFAST?

D. F. writes: I'm allergic to wheat, eggs, and milk. What can I eat for breakfast?

Fruit or fruit juice, bacon, sausage, ham, black coffee, and bread made from rye, rice, oat, potato, or soy flour, made without milk. Jam, jellies, and marmalades may be added and milk substitutes are available such as those made from soybean. Nonwheat cereals may be served with pear, prune or peach juice or maple or corn sirup.

DISTRESS AFTER EATING

W. M. writes: Why do I suffer from stomach ache for about 10 minutes after each meal?

REPLY

There are a dozen or more possibilities varying from eating too fast to gall bladder infection.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Judge Harold Medina was haunted by memories of that long trial he conducted wherein he was heckled constantly by Communist mouthpieces. "The United States, fortunately," point out the jurist, "has a Constitution that can stand that sort of thing. Mine, unfortunately, cannot."

Harry Hershfield composed differences with an old enemy and they repaired to a nearby resort to commemorate the new peace. The former foe raised his glass to propose: "Here's wishing you exactly what you're wishing me." "Oh," cracked Harry, "you're starting again, eh?"

George M. Cohan had a way of slapping down conceited hams. One of them got a good notice in a local gazette and promptly braced

"Georgie" for a pay raise. "You're a fine fellow, I'm sure," Cohan told him with a scowl, "but there's one thing I must hold against you: You're stage-struck!"

Negro Woman Of The Year Gets Fired From Her U. S. Government Post

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Mrs. Jane Morrow Spaulding, recently named the outstanding Negro woman of the year, has been getting the royal runaround from the Eisenhower administration and Negro leaders are quite unhappy about it.

Mrs. Spaulding was brought into government originally as a special assistant to Mrs. Oveta Clup Hobby, secretary for health, education and welfare. But Secretary Hobby refused to keep her distinguished Negro assistant after the latter publicly expressed a desire to see Negro doctors admitted to the staff of a Texas hospital.

This got Mrs. Hobby, a Texan, into trouble back home. So it was discreetly arranged for Mrs. Spaulding to transfer to another agency. The agency that inherited her was the Foreign Claims Settlement Commission where she settled down to a $10,000-a-year job.

After the election, however, when Negro votes were not so important, Chairman Whitney Gillilland went on a firing spree. It turned out that Mrs. Spaulding's chief backer, GOP Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky, was defeated. So Mrs. Spaulding appeared to be politically expendable and was added to the list of employes getting the ax.

After this news got out, however, Gillilland was reminded that it isn't exactly political wisdom to fire the outstanding Negro woman of the year. Hastily he called in reporters, tried to undo the damage.

"I hope," he said, "that Mrs. Spaulding can be retained here or kept in government in a job of comparable grade. Her services are of value to the government."

Meanwhile, the White House patronage czar, Charles "Jobs for Republicans" Willis is doing his frantic best to find Mrs. Spaulding a suitable job.

NOTE: Gillilland also sent out dismissal notices to 65 other employes just before Christmas. This is one-fourth of his tiny, 250-employe agency. Most of those fired are experts in processing prisoner-of-war claims, though the agency will be given the job next year of paying benefits to Americans imprisoned in Korea, for inhumane treatment suffered there.

Nelson Rockefeller's Job

When President Eisenhower was first asked in press conference about appointing Nelson Rockefeller as his special assistant he didn't seem to know that the appointment was going to be made. However, he has now gone through with the appointment that his advisers had earlier told the press he was going to make, and it looks like an extremely important one.

Nelson Rockefeller will fill the place left vacant by C. D. Jackson, former psychological warfare adviser. Jackson, former chairman of the Crusade for Freedom, had entered the White House with high hopes of starting a barrage of propaganda behind the iron curtain. He had every reason for those high hopes, since both Eisenhower and John Foster Dulles had talked repeatedly of their plan to win friends behind the iron curtain.

Jackson, however, was frustrated in almost every move he made. Even when Chancellor Adenauer of Germany wrote Eisenhower a letter asking the American people to collect old clothes for Germans, the letter collected dust for three weeks at the summer white house in Denver, by which time it was too late to be published. The State Department was too embarrassed to ask Adenauer to write another one, and the old-clothes drive fell flat.

Again, when Congress passed a law permitting the White House to give away surplus food to aid American friendship, it took Eisenhower two months to sign an executive order specifying which government agency should handle the food. The law was passed on July 10, but Ike didn't sign the executive order until September 9.

Meanwhile, C. D. Jackson had long left the White House. Now, after a nine months vacancy, Nelson Rockefeller will take his place.

Practical Idealist

Rockefeller is a practical idealist who was brought into the Roosevelt administration by Harry Hopkins to improve our relations with Latin America. At first there was a howl of dismay.

How could Latin Americans, it was said, work with a man whose oil companies were operating in Latin America and had sometimes exploited Latin America. However, young Rockefeller proved so sympathetic and conscientious that he ended up the hero of Latin Americans.

One thing Rockefeller learned that C. D. Jackson never entirely learned, was how to work with government bureaucrats. It took Rockefeller about a year to learn this. But in the end he got along with all sorts of people, from Henry Wallace to Jesse Jones.

NOTE—Rockefeller will emphasize American friendship more than inciting unrest behind the iron curtain.

CARE's Contribution

After a good many months of red-tape cutting, Paul French of CARE has worked out an important plan by which anyone can send U. S. surplus food abroad.

CARE has prepared a package which is stamped with the Seal of the United States and is marked "from the people of the United States." On it is a shield, with two hands clasped together as a symbol of friendship. A card is also supplied with the package on which the donor can write a personal message to anyone overseas.

All this is done for the sum of 50 cents, thanks to the fact that the surplus food is obtained free.

CARE is also conducting a "matching program"—an effort to match with funds from this country the amount which servicemen in Korea put up for aid to Korea—about $750,000. So far the American public has lagged far behind American servicemen, has donated only $50,000.

Korean children, in appreciation of these gifts, have sent packages back to Americans—touching packages which contain drawings, crude handicraft, small dolls—items of no monetary value but straight from the heart of a poor people who have little left to give.

A Post Mortem

By Bob Considine

CLEVELAND — (INS) — What is there to say in the wake of a murder story, particularly one that is subject to appeal before a higher court? Sam Sheppard could still be declared innocent. The Sheppard family keeps a $10,000 reward in the bank, for the apprehension of the murderer. You find yourself groping, but gingerly.

Well, this was the way it was en route to the airport. The cab driver, threading his way through the Cleveland ice floes, said, "Listen, Mac, around here this verdict was the biggest upset since the Giants took four in a row from us in the Series.

"Everybody I hauled last summer and fall said Sam was guilty but would beat the rap. Then, today when the word came in, everybody I carried said, 'Poor Sam, he got a bum break.' Well, that's life, as I say. Nobody wants to see nobody really get it. And they're always surprised and sorry when the word comes."

Quiet Classic

I thought Sam took it good. I've seen them take it worse and I've seen them take it better. Sam was good. He delivered a speech protesting his innocence. It was a quiet classic. Midway in his remarks he turned like an actor responding to a cue and addressed the remainder of his remarks to the jury.

But they looked through him. They looked as vaguely detached as 12 new heads carved into the face of Mt. Rushmore. Nobody believed Sam's "bushy-haired intruder" alibi. Nobody believed that "Marilyn is in my corner."

At the nadir of his life, Sam showed some of the anger his lawyers wished he had displayed during the trial. Wholly incensed by the jury's decision he shot the seven men and five women a parting glare they'll remember as long as they live. Hate fairly ignited his eyes. It was such a consuming hatred that he forgot to look at his brothers and sisters-in-law, who sat only a few feet from him in the courtroom, their eyes brimming and seeking his. Sam was busy. Sam was busy with wanting to tell mutely what he thought of the plain peers who had razed his career and recommended that he be removed from society for an undetermined period.

Bill Corrigan, his lawyer, who wished Sam had shown some indignation during the preliminaries and the long trial, sauntered through the press room an hour after the verdict. He wanted to wish a Merry Christmas and a bon voyage to the reporters. He had denounced many of them through the trial, mainly for showing up. But now he was relaxed and roguishly rakish in his wintry outfit.

Shaking hands, he said to me, "My only worry was that the jury would go haywire and give Sam the chair. They might have at that, considering the hysteria."

Only Marilyn Knows

Sam cooled out after he reached his cell block, two floors above the room in which he got "the word." Those who accompanied him said the loathing had gone out of his eyes and it had been replaced by a quizzical look. They said he remarked:

"Imagine . . . second degree murder."

He wouldn't explain, nor could they.

Corrigan seemed pretty content about a re-trial or a reversal. Either would take a long time. The feeling around the courthouse was that the florid, and sometimes flamboyant old lawyer will be a part of Dr. Sam's life for a long time to come.

The jury said, by its verdict, that it didn't believe any of the nearly 40 witnesses who spoke in Sam's defense. It said quite plainly that he, and nobody else, cracked in Marilyn Sheppard's head with 35 heinous blows last July 4. It would not accept Sam's story about a "form with a white top working over my wife . . . then I was clobbered." It said obliquely that his injuries, including what his brother Steve diagnosed as a "broken neck" was faked or self-inflicted.

Reporters on hand got post-verdict comments from mistress Susan Hayes ("no comment"), Sam's brothers, several members of the jury, the judge, and the lawyers. Efforts to reach Marilyn Sheppard proved unavailing. Only she, really, could tell us whether this jury — like the Royal Mounties — got their man.

Russia Threatens To Use The Stick

For months the Kremlin tried the carrot in its effort to keep the North Atlantic nations from adding German strength to their defensive alliance. This method failed, for although the European Defense Community fell by the wayside it was replaced by the Paris pacts. There is no evidence that these threats are likely to have any more influence on the nations of Western Europe than the latest peace propaganda campaign has had. Progress toward ratification of the Paris pacts has been steady, despite French qualms over putting arms in German hands. But no one should discount the capacity of the Russians to make themselves thoroughly unpleasant. If they do not get their way, they will find means of making trouble.

There were no wolves, no starlets, no prowling automobiles, no fist fights. It was a quiet corner such as one might find in Great Barrington, Mass., in the spring. The movie colony really makes little news, but the press agents do well in evoking national interest in a local situation

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—Mrs. Jane Morrow Spaulding, recently named the outstanding Negro woman of the year, has been getting the royal runaround from the Eisenhower administration and Negro leaders are quite unhappy about it.

Mrs. Spaulding was brought into government originally as a special assistant to Mrs. Oveta Clup Hobby, secretary for health, education and welfare. But Secretary Hobby refused to keep her distinguished Negro assistant after the latter publicly expressed a desire to see Negro doctors admitted to the staff of a Texas hospital.

This got Mrs. Hobby, a Texan, into trouble back home. So it was discreetly arranged for Mrs. Spaulding to transfer to another agency. The agency that inherited her was the Foreign Claims Settlement Commission where she settled down to a $10,000-a-year job.

After the election, however, when Negro votes were not so important, Chairman Whitney Gillilland went on a firing spree. It turned out that Mrs. Spaulding's chief backer, GOP Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky, was defeated. So Mrs. Spaulding appeared to be politically expendable and was added to the list of employes getting the ax.

After this news got out, however, Gillilland was reminded that it isn't exactly political wisdom to fire the outstanding Negro woman of the year. Hastily he called in reporters, tried to undo the damage.

"I hope," he said, "that Mrs. Spaulding can be retained here or kept in government in a job of comparable grade. Her services are of value to the government."

Meanwhile, the White House patronage czar, Charles "Jobs for Republicans" Willis is doing his frantic best to find Mrs. Spaulding a suitable job.

NOTE: Gillilland also sent out dismissal notices to 65 other employes just before Christmas. This is one-fourth of his tiny, 250-employe agency. Most of those fired are experts in processing prisoner-of-war claims, though the agency will be given the job next year of paying benefits to Americans imprisoned in Korea, for inhumane treatment suffered there.

Nelson Rockefeller's Job

When President Eisenhower was first asked in press conference about appointing Nelson Rockefeller as his special assistant he didn't seem to know that the appointment was going to be made. However, he has now gone through with the appointment that his advisers had earlier told the press he was going to make, and it looks like an extremely important one.

Nelson Rockefeller will fill the place left vacant by C. D. Jackson, former psychological warfare adviser. Jackson, former chairman of the Crusade for Freedom, had entered the White House with high hopes of starting a barrage of propaganda behind the iron curtain. He had every reason for those high hopes, since both Eisenhower and John Foster Dulles had talked repeatedly of their plan to win friends behind the iron curtain.

Jackson, however, was frustrated in almost every move he made. Even when Chancellor Adenauer of Germany wrote Eisenhower a letter asking the American people to collect old clothes for Germans, the letter collected dust for three weeks at the summer white house in Denver, by which time it was too late to be published. The State Department was too embarrassed to ask Adenauer to write another one, and the old-clothes drive fell flat.

Again, when Congress passed a law permitting the White House to give away surplus food to aid American friendship, it took Eisenhower two months to sign an executive order specifying which government agency should handle the food. The law was passed on July 10, but Ike didn't sign the executive order until September 9.

Meanwhile, C. D. Jackson had long left the White House. Now, after a nine months vacancy, Nelson Rockefeller will take his place.

Practical Idealist

Rockefeller is a practical idealist who was brought into the Roosevelt administration by Harry Hopkins to improve our relations with Latin America. At first there was a howl of dismay.

How could Latin Americans, it was said, work with a man whose oil companies were operating in Latin America and had sometimes exploited Latin America. However, young Rockefeller proved so sympathetic and conscientious that he ended up the hero of Latin Americans.

One thing Rockefeller learned that C. D. Jackson never entirely learned, was how to work with government bureaucrats. It took Rockefeller about a year to learn this. But in the end he got along with all sorts of people, from Henry Wallace to Jesse Jones.

NOTE—Rockefeller will emphasize American friendship more than inciting unrest behind the iron curtain.

CARE's Contribution

After a good many months of red-tape cutting, Paul French of CARE has worked out an important plan by which anyone can send U. S. surplus food abroad.

CARE has prepared a package which is stamped with the Seal of the United States and is marked "from the people of the United States." On it is a shield, with two hands clasped together as a symbol of friendship. A card is also supplied with the package on which the donor can write a personal message to anyone overseas.

All this is done for the sum of 50 cents, thanks to the fact that the surplus food is obtained free.

CARE is also conducting a "matching program"—an effort to match with funds from this country the amount which servicemen in Korea put up for aid to Korea—about $750,000. So far the American public has lagged far behind American servicemen, has donated only $50,000.

Korean children, in appreciation of these gifts, have sent packages back to Americans—touching packages which contain drawings, crude handicraft, small dolls—items of no monetary value but straight from the heart of a poor people who have little left to give.

Party Strength Reflected In Total Vote Of Election

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The official vote for all candidates for the House of Representatives in the November 1954 election has now been tabulated, according to the Associated Press, and it shows that, if the electoral vote of the states had been cast to reflect the actual majority of the ballots in each state, the Democrats would have won the White House.

This will be countered by Republican arguments that, if President Eisenhower had been running, his personal popularity would have been enough to shift the margin. But the Gallup polls show that Mr. Eisenhower's percentage on the popularity scale after 22 months in the White House is now down to a new low of 57, having receded from a peak of 74 points as measured three months after he took office. Mr. Truman in 1949 after three months in office reached 87 per cent and after 22 months was down to 48 per cent.

Meaning of "Popularity" Differs.

There are wide misconceptions about the meaning of "popularity" when it is translated into votes. Few men in the White House ever enjoyed the personal popularity that William Howard Taft did when he was inaugurated in 1909 after a landslide Republican victory. But he got just eight electoral votes in running for re-election in 1912 when his party split on much the same issues as are cropping up today. He remained personally popular and enjoyed the affection of the country as an ex-president for many years. The people liked him but didn't vote for him for re-election in 1912.

Is Mr. Eisenhower's popularity going to be of the vote-getting kind? It did not provide victory for his party in the 1954 congressional election, even though he campaigned actively and specifically pleaded for the election of a Republican-controlled House and Senate. His request was denied in both cases.

The tabulation of the House vote is a better measure of the nation-wide voting than the Senate results in the 30 or more states where elections were held because it reveals the strength of the two major parties on a nationwide basis. In 1954 the Democrats outside the South trailed the Republicans by only 164,686, whereas in 1950 — the previous congressional election when no president was running — the Republicans had a margin of 1,610,000 outside the South.

Not Offsetting Losses

The thing which stands out is that the Republican party is getting weaker and the Democratic party is staging a comeback. The reason for the decline of the Republican strength is that it is losing the enthusiastic support of the conservative voters and failing to win enough "left wingers" from the Democratic party to offset the losses. Many Republican conservatives are not voting for the Democrats but are simply staying away from the polls.

Despite the concrete evidences of such a disintegration, President Eisenhower still is catering to the "left wing" in his party. The mail received by this correspondent from many parts of the country reflects a widespread belief by the letter writers that Mr. Eisenhower has conservative instincts but is bewildered by national issues in relation to politics. They feel he has become the puppet of a "left wing" group of advisers who want to push him further and further to the left on the theory that this is the way to win more "left wing" votes from the Democratic party. To this the Republican conservatives, now being called "right wingers," answer that the Democratic party is so dominated by the labor-union groups which furnish much of the money for the campaigns that it will not lose many "left wing" votes.

Mr. Eisenhower talks a great deal about "the middle way" and of developing a "progressive moderate" party, but his critics are saying he is revealed by his staff and those who feed stories to the press regularly as being an intense partisan inside the Republican party, while failing to exhibit any partisanship toward the Democratic party. The usual criticism heard is that he is reluctant to attack the party which was in power when he was given his opportunity for a high military command. But the real reason for the confusion in strategy is the misguided belief on the part of his "left wing" advisers that the way to win the next election is to cast off the "right wing" of the Republican party and hope for an offsetting gain from the Democratic party. The 1954 election figures show no such shift to be in process.

Some of the election totals are not what they appear to be on the surface. Thus, in New York State, Attorney General-elect Javits, who ran way ahead of his Republican colleagues on the state ticket, was the beneficiary of as conspicuous a job of knifing as Tammany and the Democratic party in New York State has ever done. For Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. ran far behind the victorious Averell Harriman — a circumstance not to be accounted for at all by assuming that Javits has a greater popularity in New York State than Senator Ives, who was defeated in his race for governor. It was Tammany's chance to bury the gubernatorial ambitions of young FDR once and for all.

Many local fights turned the tide last November, but when all is said and done the basic strength of a party is reflected in the total vote recorded in the congressional election as a whole.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

This is the happy spot on the calendared wall when we should be as gentle as well-cooked lamb.

Instead, as individuals and as a nation we're in trouble to our neck. And making waves.

It isn't our fault because the cards are stacked like lumber in the yard. We have leaned backward further than a juggler balancing a billiard cue on his chin.

Some years ago I was in a group picture of 500 people. The photographer said, "Let's make this interesting. Everybody think of something different."

Which unstate of mind describes the world and its neighbor. Everybody's thinking of something different.

Which just about verifies our observation that peace on earth and good will to men is an unworkable formula. So let's concentrate on getting home safely for Christmas Eve. Let's all think of the same thing.

It's the most wonderful night of the year in the most wonderful land of all time. Don't use the white line in the middle of the road for an extra lane.

Don't take one for the road. You may meet another fellow who has taken one for the cross-roads.

The spirit of Christmas is in a bag and not a bottle. Drive as if your life depended on it for it does.

A Post Mortem

By Bob Considine

CLEVELAND — (INS) — What is there to say in the wake of a murder story, particularly one that is subject to appeal before a higher court? Sam Sheppard could still be declared innocent. The Sheppard family keeps a $10,000 reward in the bank, for the apprehension of the murderer. You find yourself groping, but gingerly.

Well, this was the way it was en route to the airport. The cab driver, threading his way through the Cleveland ice floes, said, "Listen, Mac, around here this verdict was the biggest upset since the Giants took four in a row from us in the Series.

"Everybody I hauled last summer and fall said Sam was guilty but would beat the rap. Then, today when the word came in, everybody I carried said, 'Poor Sam, he got a bum break.' Well, that's life, as I say. Nobody wants to see nobody really get it. And they're always surprised and sorry when the word comes."

Quiet Classic

I thought Sam took it good. I've seen them take it worse and I've seen them take it better. Sam was good. He delivered a speech protesting his innocence. It was a quiet classic. Midway in his remarks he turned like an actor responding to a cue and addressed the remainder of his remarks to the jury.

But they looked through him. They looked as vaguely detached as 12 new heads carved into the face of Mt. Rushmore. Nobody believed Sam's "bushy-haired intruder" alibi. Nobody believed that "Marilyn is in my corner."

At the nadir of his life, Sam showed some of the anger his lawyers wished he had displayed during the trial. Wholly incensed by the jury's decision he shot the seven men and five women a parting glare they'll remember as long as they live. Hate fairly ignited his eyes. It was such a consuming hatred that he forgot to look at his brothers and sisters-in-law, who sat only a few feet from him in the courtroom, their eyes brimming and seeking his. Sam was busy. Sam was busy with wanting to tell mutely what he thought of the plain peers who had razed his career and recommended that he be removed from society for an undetermined period.

Bill Corrigan, his lawyer, who wished Sam had shown some indignation during the preliminaries and the long trial, sauntered through the press room an hour after the verdict. He wanted to wish a Merry Christmas and a bon voyage to the reporters. He had denounced many of them through the trial, mainly for showing up. But now he was relaxed and roguishly rakish in his wintry outfit.

Shaking hands, he said to me, "My only worry was that the jury would go haywire and give Sam the chair. They might have at that, considering the hysteria."

Only Marilyn Knows

Sam cooled out after he reached his cell block, two floors above the room in which he got "the word." Those who accompanied him said the loathing had gone out of his eyes and it had been replaced by a quizzical look. They said he remarked:

"Imagine . . . second degree murder."

He wouldn't explain, nor could they.

Corrigan seemed pretty content about a re-trial or a reversal. Either would take a long time. The feeling around the courthouse was that the florid, and sometimes flamboyant old lawyer will be a part of Dr. Sam's life for a long time to come.

The jury said, by its verdict, that it didn't believe any of the nearly 40 witnesses who spoke in Sam's defense. It said quite plainly that he, and nobody else, cracked in Marilyn Sheppard's head with 35 heinous blows last July 4. It would not accept Sam's story about a "form with a white top working over my wife . . . then I was clobbered." It said obliquely that his injuries, including what his brother Steve diagnosed as a "broken neck" was faked or self-inflicted.

Reporters on hand got post-verdict comments from mistress Susan Hayes ("no comment"), Sam's brothers, several members of the jury, the judge, and the lawyers. Efforts to reach Marilyn Sheppard proved unavailing. Only she, really, could tell us whether this jury — like the Royal Mounties — got their man.

Heart No Weakling In Performance Of Life's Work

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The heart begins to beat long before birth and continues as long as life persists. When it stops, death occurs. In this respect, life depends upon the function of this structure.

The heart is no mystery to the medical profession, as its muscle is much easier to study and examine than is the brain or liver. The organ, beginning as a hollw tube, becomes a four-chambered pump. By alternately contracting and relaxing, it sends blood through 12,000 miles of arteries, veins, and capillaries. In this way, nourishment and oxygen are distributed to every cell of the body.

The heart beats on an average, 100,000 times a day and gives 37 million contractions a year. The ticker of a 50-year-old has made 2 billion contractions and has pumped approximately 180,000 tons of blood. An engineer has estimated that this is equivalent to the output of a motor that has been driven a million miles. In this respect, the heart is tough and not half the weakling many believe it to be.

When does the heart muscle rest? Between each contraction. Since this interval is longer than the time required to contract, the organ usually rests twice as long as it works. On the other hand, exercise or emotional stress speeds up the rate at the expense of the rest period. When this takes place, the structure works twice as much as it rests.

How is the beat initiated? The initial impulse comes from a nerve center, called the pacemaker, located high in the wall of the right auricle. This node is like a timer, sending out rhythmical electrical impulses that fan out like the ripples created by dropping a pebble into still water.

The node has connections with the regular nervous system but can act on its own if necessary. The impulses carry an electrical charge that is easy to detect with the electrocardiogram. Irregularities of the beat often results from disturbanes of this delicate mechanism.

Infection and various drugs, such as caffeine and nicotine, affect this unique electrical system. Some irregularities are remedied easily; others are made harmless by slowing the pulse. This explains why the heart flipflops when too much coffee, tea, or tobacco is used. Disturbances of rhythm also occur during rheumatic fever.

It is surprising how often irregularities may be present without producing symptoms. The opposite also is noted; individuals with certain types of unever beat may be unaware of the condition until the rhythm corrects itself; they had become accustomed to the erratic beat and are disturbed for some time after it becomes regular.

SPINAL DEFORMITY

C. Y. writes: Is hunchback hereditary?

REPLY

No. The familiar humpback of 25 or more years ago is becoming scarcer all the time. Credit for the reduction in tuberculosis of the spine (the cause of hunchback) goes to the pasteurization of milk and to the efforts of our dairymen and public health officials to eradicate the infection from cattle. In addition, we have better treatment of this spinal disorder should it occur.

WHAT'S FOR BREAKFAST?

D. F. writes: I'm allergic to wheat, eggs, and milk. What can I eat for breakfast?

Fruit or fruit juice, bacon, sausage, ham, black coffee, and bread made from rye, rice, oat, potato, or soy flour, made without milk. Jam, jellies, and marmalades may be added and milk substitutes are available such as those made from soybean. Nonwheat cereals may be served with pear, prune or peach juice or maple or corn sirup.

DISTRESS AFTER EATING

W. M. writes: Why do I suffer from stomach ache for about 10 minutes after each meal?

REPLY

There are a dozen or more possibilities varying from eating too fast to gall bladder infection.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

Judge Harold Medina was haunted by memories of that long trial he conducted wherein he was heckled constantly by Communist mouthpieces. "The United States, fortunately," point out the jurist, "has a Constitution that can stand that sort of thing. Mine, unfortunately, cannot."

Harry Hershfield composed differences with an old enemy and they repaired to a nearby resort to commemorate the new peace. The former foe raised his glass to propose: "Here's wishing you exactly what you're wishing me." "Oh," cracked Harry, "you're starting again, eh?"

George M. Cohan had a way of slapping down conceited hams. One of them got a good notice in a local gazette and promptly braced

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 22—(INS)—Still insisting that Ava Gardner and Frank Sinatra will be the co-stars of "St. Louis Woman" next spring, excited MGM spokesman telephoned to say that George Sidney is set to direct the estranged Sinatras when Ava finishes "Bhowani Junction."

Wantta bet? Even though Freddie Finklehoff's script is written for Frankie and Ava and producer Arthur Freed says La Belle Gardner agreed to make the picture before she left on her tour, I just can't believe it.

For one thing, Frankie is booked up for enough pictures to last him until he's 80. And, with Ava set to hold out for a whopping settlement, I doubt if Frankie could get in the mood for the love scenes.

One picture did it for Eva Marie Saint, and that was "On The Waterfront," which is getting all sorts of awards. Eva has received many offers since she came to Hollywood, but the one she's accepted is "King's Row" with Elizabeth Taylor, Montgomery Clift and Frank Sinatra.

Of course the picture won't be made until after Liz has her baby.

Elizabeth and Mike Wilding return Jan. 8 from England where they are spending the holidays with Mike's sick father. Besides the great grief the elder Wilding has known since the death of his wife, the 82-year-old man has a broken back.

Find out which shades of red are best for you and wear them, to project your personality.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Red is a gay color, in harmony with the holiday season. If it is just as harmonious with your skin, wear it often—for its brightening effect on yourself and your audience. If it is not your most flattering color, but a favorite, you can still take it in small doses. By all means, follow this advice from my stylists.

1. To enhance your skin, wear colors that contain the same underlying tones—pink, ochre (ivory, cream, olive), or blue. True-red is an exception, for it contains neither yellow or blue undertones, thus is becoming to all but the pink-toned skin that goes with Titian hair.

For Face And Figure

2. To spark your hair and eyes, choose a shade that does not exceed them in brilliance. A shade of equal intensity deepens the color of your eyes; one that contrasts too vividly will outshine them. Hazel eyes are the exception here; chameleon-like, they reflect the predominant tone of your costume.

3. To flatter your figure, if an illusion of lesser size is your wish, compromise a tone or two in brilliance. Instead of Chinese red, for example, wear a dusty coral. Combine only those shades that have maximum contrast value—pale with dark, bright with dark, or light with bright. The currently popular combination of shell pink with raspberry, or a red even more brilliant, is perfect illustration of these color cues.

Don't be afraid to sample new and different color recipes, for variety heightens both looks and spirits. If you are a cool brunette (your skin has blue tints) experiment with these shades: magenta, fuchsia, American beauty, cerise, wine. A warm brunette (pink or ochre undertones) should try these: shrimp, geranium, Chinese, rust, maroon.

Color To Come

Here's an early fashion forecast for spring: if you can't wear the blue-toned reds you might like for a romantic party dress right now, you'll be one of the luucky ones in the spring. Shrimp will be a popular shade, and the warm-skinned can wear it.

No aspect of fashion projects your personality as does color, so make the most of each season's varying reds—in dress or accessories—to project yours.

Grenadiers Granted Leaves For Aiding Pope

CATANIA, Sicily, Dec. 22 (AP) — Two Sicilian grenadiers were granted a special nine-day Christmas leave today for having given blood for transfusion to the ailing Pope Pius XII.

They are Carmelo Giustolisi and Salvatore Africano, both 22.

Giustolisi was received and praised today by Guido Luigi Bemtivoglio, archbishop of Catania.

The two, belonging to a regiment composed of tall husky youths, were called to their unit's infirmary in Rome Dec. 8 to give blood for the pontiff.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 22—(INS)—Still insisting that Ava Gardner and Frank Sinatra will be the co-stars of "St. Louis Woman" next spring, excited MGM spokesman telephoned to say that George Sidney is set to direct the estranged Sinatras when Ava finishes "Bhowani Junction."

Wantta bet? Even though Freddie Finklehoff's script is written for Frankie and Ava and producer Arthur Freed says La Belle Gardner agreed to make the picture before she left on her tour, I just can't believe it.

For one thing, Frankie is booked up for enough pictures to last him until he's 80. And, with Ava set to hold out for a whopping settlement, I doubt if Frankie could get in the mood for the love scenes.

One picture did it for Eva Marie Saint, and that was "On The Waterfront," which is getting all sorts of awards. Eva has received many offers since she came to Hollywood, but the one she's accepted is "King's Row" with Elizabeth Taylor, Montgomery Clift and Frank Sinatra.

Of course the picture won't be made until after Liz has her baby.

Elizabeth and Mike Wilding return Jan. 8 from England where they are spending the holidays with Mike's sick father. Besides the great grief the elder Wilding has known since the death of his wife, the 82-year-old man has a broken back.

Never let it be said that RKO is missing a trick in making the underwater premiere of "Underwater!" a big, glamorous shindig.

Seven colleges in Florida have agreed to select a candidate for the title "Miss Underwater of 1955." The seven girls will then go to the premiere in Silver Springs, where representatives of the press will have the winning selection.

No, they won't drown the other six belles. They'll serve as "Miss Underwater's" water nymphs.

Miriam Nelson, who gave up her career when she married dancer Gene Nelson, is coming back with both feet. In addition to the Colgate Comedy Hour, she has just been engaged to do the choreography on "Here Comes The Bride," the Frankie Laine, Keefe Brasselle, Connie Towers musical at Columbia.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Attention Duke Wayne! Your son, Mike, is very interested in a UCLA co-ed by the name of Marilyn Griswald.

Rose Netcher, whose life story was glorified in the 20th movie, "The Dolly Sisters," is writing her autobiography.

Doris Day is listening to the offer made by one of the big Las Vegas hotels for $50,000 a week. Who wouldn't listen?

Shelley Winters cabled her press agent that she may fly in from London Friday if she gets the nod from the "I Am A Camera" company.

My good friend Adela Rogers St. Johns is a proud mother. Her son Richard just passed his bar examination—following in the footsteps of his famed grandfather, Earl Rogers.

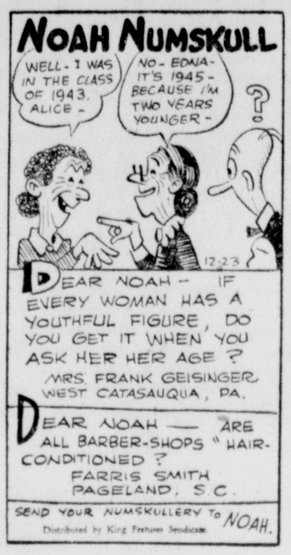

Tony Curtis' director, William Alland, and his wife expect a baby in the early summer.

Dawn Addams and Prince Vittorio Massimo have left Italy for London, where they will await the birth of their baby in January.

Sorry I missed the Joe Pasternak birthday party for Charlie Morrison, but I hear it was a gay affair with most of the guests—including Terry Moore and Nicky Hilton—moving on to the Mocambo for dancing.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Find out which shades of red are best for you and wear them, to project your personality.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Red is a gay color, in harmony with the holiday season. If it is just as harmonious with your skin, wear it often—for its brightening effect on yourself and your audience. If it is not your most flattering color, but a favorite, you can still take it in small doses. By all means, follow this advice from my stylists.

1. To enhance your skin, wear colors that contain the same underlying tones—pink, ochre (ivory, cream, olive), or blue. True-red is an exception, for it contains neither yellow or blue undertones, thus is becoming to all but the pink-toned skin that goes with Titian hair.

For Face And Figure

2. To spark your hair and eyes, choose a shade that does not exceed them in brilliance. A shade of equal intensity deepens the color of your eyes; one that contrasts too vividly will outshine them. Hazel eyes are the exception here; chameleon-like, they reflect the predominant tone of your costume.

3. To flatter your figure, if an illusion of lesser size is your wish, compromise a tone or two in brilliance. Instead of Chinese red, for example, wear a dusty coral. Combine only those shades that have maximum contrast value—pale with dark, bright with dark, or light with bright. The currently popular combination of shell pink with raspberry, or a red even more brilliant, is perfect illustration of these color cues.

Don't be afraid to sample new and different color recipes, for variety heightens both looks and spirits. If you are a cool brunette (your skin has blue tints) experiment with these shades: magenta, fuchsia, American beauty, cerise, wine. A warm brunette (pink or ochre undertones) should try these: shrimp, geranium, Chinese, rust, maroon.

Color To Come

Here's an early fashion forecast for spring: if you can't wear the blue-toned reds you might like for a romantic party dress right now, you'll be one of the luucky ones in the spring. Shrimp will be a popular shade, and the warm-skinned can wear it.

No aspect of fashion projects your personality as does color, so make the most of each season's varying reds—in dress or accessories—to project yours.

Grenadiers Granted Leaves For Aiding Pope

CATANIA, Sicily, Dec. 22 (AP) — Two Sicilian grenadiers were granted a special nine-day Christmas leave today for having given blood for transfusion to the ailing Pope Pius XII.

They are Carmelo Giustolisi and Salvatore Africano, both 22.

Giustolisi was received and praised today by Guido Luigi Bemtivoglio, archbishop of Catania.

The two, belonging to a regiment composed of tall husky youths, were called to their unit's infirmary in Rome Dec. 8 to give blood for the pontiff.

The word "carat" is believed to have been derived from the Mediterranean carob tree, the seeds of which are of very uniform weight and were used in ancient times as a measure of weight.

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Year-To-Year Federal Budget System Said Old Fashioned

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP) — A group of businessmen and economists said that the present year-to-year system of federal budgets is old fashioned and should be junked in favor of longer range approaches.

The budget reform proposal came from the National Planning Assn., headed by H. Christian Sonne, international investment banker of New York.

NPA was founded in 1934 as a non-political organization for studies of government and the economy.

Its report said that sticking rigidly to "the rule of annually balanced budget" would probably lead to serious economic trouble.

It said the idea has been widely accepted that there should be a balance between the government's income and outgo only when that can be achieved "under conditions of high employment." Partisans of this theory expect the government to pump out economic priming expenditures when employment falls off, leading automatically to red ink budgets in time of business decline.

The present strictly year-to-year budget planning, NPA said, is outdated and cannot provide adequately for spending and taxing policies that will roll with the economic punches.

NPA proposes:

1. That the present Joint Congressional Committee on the Economic Report be given the task of surveying the budget as a whole, in addition to the work done by other committees that consider only special subjects such as taxation, military spending, foreign aid, etc.

2. That the President's annual economic report to Congress contain a projection of probable trends over "a number of years" ahead.

3. That the President's budget message each year give the main lines of spending, taxation and income prospects for the same number of years, with fiscal policies projected to balance the economic trends.

4. That Congress make some appropriations, particularly for public works, "without stringent limitations" on when the money may be spent. The President would be authorized to speed up or slow down these expenditures as conditions warrant.

The Joint Economic Committee would "examine the long term budget outlook . . . and changes in expenditure programs and tax legislation proposed by the President for the purpose of counteracting business fluctuations. The committee would approve or modify the President's recommendations, or changes of its own.

Finally, the study group proposed, Congress each year should adopt a resolution that "would outline the broader order . . . of the budget over a period of years.

Free Permits For Vets Are Unconstitutional

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 22 (AP) — The Indiana Supreme Court ruled today that free hunting and fishing permits, which Indiana has issued to veterans since 1927 are unconstitutional.

The opinion, written by Chief Justice Frank E. Gilkinson, reversed a Hancock County Circuit Court ruling in a test case filed in 1953 by Harry G. Hanley of Gary, a conservationist and nonveteran.

The ruling cited the provisions of the state constitution which bars legislation for the special benefit of one class of persons.

The Soo canal between Lake Superior and Lake Huron is sometimes called the "billion dollar mile."

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Free Permits For Vets Are Unconstitutional

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 22 (AP) — The Indiana Supreme Court ruled today that free hunting and fishing permits, which Indiana has issued to veterans since 1927 are unconstitutional.

The opinion, written by Chief Justice Frank E. Gilkinson, reversed a Hancock County Circuit Court ruling in a test case filed in 1953 by Harry G. Hanley of Gary, a conservationist and nonveteran.

The ruling cited the provisions of the state constitution which bars legislation for the special benefit of one class of persons.

Year-To-Year Federal Budget System Said Old Fashioned

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22 (AP) — A group of businessmen and economists said that the present year-to-year system of federal budgets is old fashioned and should be junked in favor of longer range approaches.

The budget reform proposal came from the National Planning Assn., headed by H. Christian Sonne, international investment banker of New York.

NPA was founded in 1934 as a non-political organization for studies of government and the economy.

Its report said that sticking rigidly to "the rule of annually balanced budget" would probably lead to serious economic trouble.

It said the idea has been widely accepted that there should be a balance between the government's income and outgo only when that can be achieved "under conditions of high employment." Partisans of this theory expect the government to pump out economic priming expenditures when employment falls off, leading automatically to red ink budgets in time of business decline.

The present strictly year-to-year budget planning, NPA said, is outdated and cannot provide adequately for spending and taxing policies that will roll with the economic punches.

NPA proposes:

1. That the present Joint Congressional Committee on the Economic Report be given the task of surveying the budget as a whole, in addition to the work done by other committees that consider only special subjects such as taxation, military spending, foreign aid, etc.

2. That the President's annual economic report to Congress contain a projection of probable trends over "a number of years" ahead.

3. That the President's budget message each year give the main lines of spending, taxation and income prospects for the same number of years, with fiscal policies projected to balance the economic trends.

4. That Congress make some appropriations, particularly for public works, "without stringent limitations" on when the money may be spent. The President would be authorized to speed up or slow down these expenditures as conditions warrant.

The Joint Economic Committee would "examine the long term budget outlook . . . and changes in expenditure programs and tax legislation proposed by the President for the purpose of counteracting business fluctuations. The committee would approve or modify the President's recommendations, or changes of its own.

Finally, the study group proposed, Congress each year should adopt a resolution that "would outline the broader order . . . of the budget over a period of years.

Keyser High School Students Adopt New Code Of Honor Idea

Tri-Hi-Y Sponsors Plaque For Hall

KEYSER — A new feature will be added to Keyser High School with the placement of a Code of Honor in the front hall of the school building. The project originated with Tri-Hi-Y Club almost a month ago. Since then home room representatives to the Student Council, took the idea back to the members of their home rooms. The project was unanimously approved, by faculty and student body.

At the regular meeting of the Tri-Hi-Y last Friday, plans for the project were advanced. Sharon Tenney was appointed chairman of a committee which will see that the code is printed. Bonnie Liller and Patty Furey were selected to take charge of forming the code, and officers of the club have reported they hope to have the code finished by January 1.

The devotions at the meeting were under direction of Carol Mills. Others participating were Marilynn Ludwick, Patty Hewitt, Donna Lou Allamong and Louise Pyles.

The club voted to contribute two chickens for the current food drive being made by the K-Ette pep organization. The group also decided to hold a joint meeting with the Hi-Y on January 9 and a Valentine Party in February. The club is also planning for a swimming party at the YMCA in Cumberland in January.

The program of the meeting, centering around the theme of "Holiday Hints," was in charge of Krista Leatherman. Members were divided into "buzz sessions," after a brief introduction by Miss Leatherman. The groups discussed manners, use of time, gifts and beauty hints for the holiday season. Discussion leaders were Patty Williamson, Sally Tribett, Carol Mills and Miss Barbara Skinner, club sponsor. Each member received a colorful Christmas pin as she arrived for the meeting.

Sharon Fraser, of the Senior Class, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Fraser, is president of the active organization. She is also a member of K-Ettes, National Honor Society, Thespians and Rainbow Girls, and is news editor of Hi-Times.

Working with Miss Fraser are Krista Leatherman, vice-president; Dorothy Yost, secretary; Joann Melody, treasurer; Carol Mills, chaplain, and Joyce Boone, reporter.

Valley High Publishes New School Paper

First Issue Out For Christmas

LONACONING — "The Shield," Valley High School's first issue of their school newspaper, was distributed Wednesday, the closing day for the Christmas vacation.

The four-page printed newspaper received very favorable comment from the 250 subscribers. It will be published five times from December to May.

Editor-in-chief is Joyce Tharp. News editors are Darlene Stephen, Althea Alexander and Norma Ritchie; sports editor, Jim McKenzie; advertising manager, Bob Dickinson; business manager, Virginia Hardegan; head typist, Marion Thompson, and faculty sponsor, Miss Mary M. Sterbutzel.

"The Shield" has editorials, humor, "letters to Santa," sports page, and advertisements. Others in the Journalism Class who helped in the publication are Evelyn Lancaster, Bob Smith, Ernest Shockey and Leo Jones.

"Principal's Message" for the first issue states, "This issue, the first, of 'The Shield' opens a new era at Valley High. We are very happy and proud to have this project added to our school for the benefit of all.

"During the past three months the Journalism Class and their teacher, Miss Sterbutzel, have been working and planning for this issue and the others to follow. To them we are greatly indebted for making a school paper possible.

"I personally believe that a school paper makes a most positive contribution to a school. It gives us news and insights with problems that otherwise may be overlooked. We hope that through this medium our school community will become better informed and more aware of school problems and activities.

"We urge all of you — students and teachers — to assist the entire staff of "The Shield" in making our school paper a lasting success.

"I am again happy to be able to use the first issue of our school paper to wish each one of you at Valley High a Merry Christmas and a most happy and successful New Year."

Valley High Publishes New School Paper

First Issue Out For Christmas

LONACONING — "The Shield," Valley High School's first issue of their school newspaper, was distributed Wednesday, the closing day for the Christmas vacation.

The four-page printed newspaper received very favorable comment from the 250 subscribers. It will be published five times from December to May.

Editor-in-chief is Joyce Tharp. News editors are Darlene Stephen, Althea Alexander and Norma Ritchie; sports editor, Jim McKenzie; advertising manager, Bob Dickinson; business manager, Virginia Hardegan; head typist, Marion Thompson, and faculty sponsor, Miss Mary M. Sterbutzel.

"The Shield" has editorials, humor, "letters to Santa," sports page, and advertisements. Others in the Journalism Class who helped in the publication are Evelyn Lancaster, Bob Smith, Ernest Shockey and Leo Jones.

"Principal's Message" for the first issue states, "This issue, the first, of 'The Shield' opens a new era at Valley High. We are very happy and proud to have this project added to our school for the benefit of all.

"During the past three months the Journalism Class and their teacher, Miss Sterbutzel, have been working and planning for this issue and the others to follow. To them we are greatly indebted for making a school paper possible.

"I personally believe that a school paper makes a most positive contribution to a school. It gives us news and insights with problems that otherwise may be overlooked. We hope that through this medium our school community will become better informed and more aware of school problems and activities.

"We urge all of you — students and teachers — to assist the entire staff of "The Shield" in making our school paper a lasting success.

"I am again happy to be able to use the first issue of our school paper to wish each one of you at Valley High a Merry Christmas and a most happy and successful New Year."

The program was recommended by the county staff and Board of Education. Individual schools were asked to work out details as they applied to their respective schools.

J. A. Hawkins, principal of Wardensville 12-Year-School, reported on the meeting of the Secondary Principals which was held recently at Shepherd College. Hawkins pointed out the common viewpoint that has come about between secondary and elementary principals concerning the philosophy of education. He said splendid cooperation among principals and county staff was evident.

Methods of reporting pupil progress in the county were studied and evaluated. The principals divided into three area groups and looked at the reports being used this year. Strengths and weaknesses were pointed out and suggestions for improved reporting were made.

Frank Thomas And "Rip" Engle To Attend Dapper Dan Dinner

Pirates' Slugger, Penn State Coach To Be Here Feb. 6

Frank Thomas, outfielder and home run belter of the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Charles "Rip" Engle, head football coach of the Nittany Lions of Penn State College, will be among the guests of the Cumberland Dapper Dan Club at the seventh annual benefit dinner to be held at the K. of C. Home, Sunday, February 6.

Frank Thomas Rip Engle

This announcement was made yesterday by David Kauffman, local attorney, and general chairman in charge of arrangements for speakers. Al Abrams, of Pittsburgh, national president of the Dapper Dan organization, informed Kauffman that both Engle and Thomas will attend the banquet which is held annually for the benefit of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

Among others who have accepted invitations to attend the local affair are Don Kellett, president of the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League and Coach Walt Kiesling, Bill McPeak, Jim Finks and Lynn Chadnois, of the Pittsburgh Steelers football team.

Bob Prince, Pittsburgh radio and television announcer, will act as master of ceremonies.

Lions Favorites By 2½ Points In Sunday Game

CLEVELAND, Dec. 22 (AP)—Paul Brown, by no means conceding the pro football championship game to Detroit, remarked dourly today:

"Well, at least, they're going to let us play the game, aren't they."

That came after the wily coach's Cleveland Browns lost the last game of the regular season to the Lions, 14-10, and after odds makers decided the Lions should be favored by 2½ points.

The Browns have never missed a championship playoff since they were organized in 1946. But neither have they won one since 1950. They won it all during the four years the All-America Conference existed and then again in 1950, their first season in this league.

But then they lost to Los Angeles and twice to the Lions.

The championship game is a "sudden death" affair. If the score is tied at the end of the regular time, play will continue until one team score—and that will end it. The umpire would flip a coin to determine which team would kickoff to start the overtime.

Loyola Stops Illinois After Coach Is Killed

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 22 (AP) — Loyola of New Orleans paid tribute to an assistant coach killed in an auto accident today with a 72-66 victory tonight over Illinois, the nation's third-ranked basketball team.

It was the first defeat for the Illini who had won six games. The victory gave Loyola a 4-2 record.

Bobby Hanberg, star on last year's Loyola basketball team and assistant coach this season, died in an auto crash near Liberty, Tex. The team dedicated the game to Hanberg tonight.

Redlegs Retain Paul

CINCINNATI, Dec. 22 (AP)—Gabe Paul today signed a new contract as general manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs. It will expire Oct. 31, 1958.

Paul was named general manager Sept. 27, 1951, after Warren C. Giles resigned to become president of the National League.

Paul came here from Rochester of the International League Nov. 1, 1936, as publicity director.

New York Giants' Comeback Rated Tops For Year

Babe Zaharias 2nd In 24th A. P. Poll

[By The Associated Press]

The rise of the New York Giants from fifth place in 1953 to the National League championship and a four-game sweep over Cleveland in the World Series was rated the "Comeback of the Year" of 1954 in the 24th annual year end Associated Press poll.

Thirty-nine sports writers and sportscasters voted the surge of the Giants the No. 1 comeback with the return of fabulous Babe Didrikson Zaharias to the golfing heights rated second.

On a basis of three points for first, two for second and one for third, the Giants received 159 points. The amazing Babe, who made a successful battle against cancer in 1953 and was cited for the "comeback of 1953", collected 58 points and 13 first place votes.

The resurgence of Arkansas' football team, winners of the Southwest Conference pennant, was ranked third with 49 points, followed by the Cleveland Browns, or their recovery from a dismal start this season, 47; Ted Williams, slugging star of the Boston Red Sox, 41; Bob Feller, veteran Cleveland pitcher 28; lightweight champion Jimmy Carter, who regained his title for the second time, 23; and Leo Durocher's comeback with a world championship team, 21.

Fifth the year before with 70-84 record and 35 games behind the pennant winning Brooklyn Dodgers, the colorful Giants took over first place for good on June 15 and won by five games with a 97-57 record. This was 27 games better than their pace of 1953.

Welaj To Manage Hagerstown Team

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Dec. 22 (AP) —John L. Welaj, former Washington Senator and Philadelphia Athletics outfielder, today was named manager of the Hagerstown Packets of the Class B Piedmont League.

General Manager Rufus K. Edwards said Welaj signed a one-year contract. He'll be a non-playing manager but may see duty as a pinch-hitter.

Paul Campbell managed the Packets last season until he took another post in the club and Zeke Bonura, on loan from the New York Yankees, finished the season.

Kingwood Hunter Accidentally Wounded

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 22 (AP)—A young Kingwood man wounded by shotgun pellets in a hunting accident was in critical condition in a Morgantown hospital today.

The victim, Robert DeWitt, 21, was wounded yesterday while he and three companions were hunting rabbits in the west end of Kingwood.

State Police said they believed DeWitt was hit by pellets from the shotgun of two of his companions who fired at a rabbit at the same time.

Richards To Shop In Kansas City

BALTIMORE, Dec. 22 (AP)—Paul Richards will go shopping in Kansas City the day after Christmas for more Baltimore Orioles.

The new manager already has swung deals with the New York Yankees, Chicago White Sox and the Brooklyn Dodgers. The Athletics he reportedly is interested in are someone like Vic Power, Bill Renna or Gus Zernial, right handed power hitters.

Richards also has talked possible deals with the Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox.

But Jack Dunn, aide to Richards who is in Texas, said after talking by phone to the manager that "He must think he has a good chance of swinging another trade, otherwise he wouldn't go all the way out to Kansas City."

Biggest Man In Pro Football To Retire

DETROIT, Dec. 22 (AP) — Les Bingaman, biggest man in pro football, said today he is quitting the game after Sunday's playoff between the Detroit Lions and the Cleveland Browns.

"Win or lose, this is it," said the 300-pound-plus Detroit defensive linebacker finishing his seventh season with the Lions.

"I might add I don't expect to go out with a loser," said Bingaman, who joined the Lions in 1948. "I'm 28 and it's time to quit." Bingaman said he would work as a brewery representative.

Frank "Red" Burns Hospitalized, Revives Classic With "Ike" Law

Midland Outfielder, Colts' Manager, Recall 1919 Torrid Series

Memories of the torrid baseball series for the county baseball championship between the Midland Indians and Cumberland Colts in 1919 were revived yesterday when Raymond "Ike" Law, chairman of the local Knights of Columbus sick committee, visited Sacred Heart Hospital where Frank "Red" Burns, of Midland, is a patient.

Burns, a veteran of the First World War, and an employe of the accounting department of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, was an outfielder with the Indians 35 years ago when the up-creek team, managed by Price Poland and Richard J. "Dick" Stakem, won the title series from the Colts, who were managed by Law. The series went the limit and in the final game Charles "Lefty" Dye, of Barton, defeated John "Lefty" Fike.

Other Midland Players

Robert Moses "Lefty" Grove, Tommy McGuire, now postmaster at Westernport, Leo "Toad" McNeill, Clarence Beeman, George Shearer, Bill Riggins, Joe Palonis, Bill Chapman, "Paddy" Stakem, Pat Creegan and Joe Nolan also played with the Indians in that series.

The fifth game ended in a tie and the series ended with the playing of the sixth contest. The games were staged at Midland and South End Park.

The "oldtimers" recall that Emmett Flynn, present Cumberland chief of police, was "warming up" on the sidelines and uncorked a wild pitch that knocked Joe Nolan unconscious. Nolan was sitting on the Midland bench when the fast ball struck him in the face.

Threw Ball Over Fence

Law smiled when he was reminded that the Colts' manager, irked over the ball that a Midland pitcher was throwing, seized the pellet and threw it over the fence into the yard of the Taylor Tin Mill. "The ball had a loose cover," Law argued, "and I decided it was time to get it out of the game."

The Burns family is well known in Allegany County. Frank's daughter, Mary C., is a school teacher at Cresaptown, while his son, Cyril, now with the State Roads Commission at Oxon Hill, Md., was scorekeeper for Midland baseball teams in recent years.

Utah Bows, 54-52, To Southern Cal

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 22 (AP) — Never-say-die Southern California fought from 15 points behind tonight to surprise sluggish Utah, the nation's No. 2 basketball power, 54-52, in the consolation game of the University of Kentucky's Invitational Tournament.

Host Kentucky, No. 1 college team in the Associated Press poll, met No. 4 LaSalle in the championship game.

Frank Thomas And "Rip" Engle To Attend Dapper Dan Dinner

Pirates' Slugger, Penn State Coach To Be Here Feb. 6

Frank Thomas, outfielder and home run belter of the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Charles "Rip" Engle, head football coach of the Nittany Lions of Penn State College, will be among the guests of the Cumberland Dapper Dan Club at the seventh annual benefit dinner to be held at the K. of C. Home, Sunday, February 6.

Frank Thomas Rip Engle

This announcement was made yesterday by David Kauffman, local attorney, and general chairman in charge of arrangements for speakers. Al Abrams, of Pittsburgh, national president of the Dapper Dan organization, informed Kauffman that both Engle and Thomas will attend the banquet which is held annually for the benefit of the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

Among others who have accepted invitations to attend the local affair are Don Kellett, president of the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League and Coach Walt Kiesling, Bill McPeak, Jim Finks and Lynn Chadnois, of the Pittsburgh Steelers football team.

Bob Prince, Pittsburgh radio and television announcer, will act as master of ceremonies.

Lions Favorites By 2½ Points In Sunday Game

CLEVELAND, Dec. 22 (AP)—Paul Brown, by no means conceding the pro football championship game to Detroit, remarked dourly today:

"Well, at least, they're going to let us play the game, aren't they."

That came after the wily coach's Cleveland Browns lost the last game of the regular season to the Lions, 14-10, and after odds makers decided the Lions should be favored by 2½ points.

The Browns have never missed a championship playoff since they were organized in 1946. But neither have they won one since 1950. They won it all during the four years the All-America Conference existed and then again in 1950, their first season in this league.

But then they lost to Los Angeles and twice to the Lions.

The championship game is a "sudden death" affair. If the score is tied at the end of the regular time, play will continue until one team score—and that will end it. The umpire would flip a coin to determine which team would kickoff to start the overtime.

Loyola Stops Illinois After Coach Is Killed

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 22 (AP) — Loyola of New Orleans paid tribute to an assistant coach killed in an auto accident today with a 72-66 victory tonight over Illinois, the nation's third-ranked basketball team.

It was the first defeat for the Illini who had won six games. The victory gave Loyola a 4-2 record.

Bobby Hanberg, star on last year's Loyola basketball team and assistant coach this season, died in an auto crash near Liberty, Tex. The team dedicated the game to Hanberg tonight.

Redlegs Retain Paul

CINCINNATI, Dec. 22 (AP)—Gabe Paul today signed a new contract as general manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs. It will expire Oct. 31, 1958.

Paul was named general manager Sept. 27, 1951, after Warren C. Giles resigned to become president of the National League.

Paul came here from Rochester of the International League Nov. 1, 1936, as publicity director.

New York Giants' Comeback Rated Tops For Year

Babe Zaharias 2nd In 24th A. P. Poll

[By The Associated Press]

The rise of the New York Giants from fifth place in 1953 to the National League championship and a four-game sweep over Cleveland in the World Series was rated the "Comeback of the Year" of 1954 in the 24th annual year end Associated Press poll.

Thirty-nine sports writers and sportscasters voted the surge of the Giants the No. 1 comeback with the return of fabulous Babe Didrikson Zaharias to the golfing heights rated second.

On a basis of three points for first, two for second and one for third, the Giants received 159 points. The amazing Babe, who made a successful battle against cancer in 1953 and was cited for the "comeback of 1953", collected 58 points and 13 first place votes.

The resurgence of Arkansas' football team, winners of the Southwest Conference pennant, was ranked third with 49 points, followed by the Cleveland Browns, or their recovery from a dismal start this season, 47; Ted Williams, slugging star of the Boston Red Sox, 41; Bob Feller, veteran Cleveland pitcher 28; lightweight champion Jimmy Carter, who regained his title for the second time, 23; and Leo Durocher's comeback with a world championship team, 21.

Fifth the year before with 70-84 record and 35 games behind the pennant winning Brooklyn Dodgers, the colorful Giants took over first place for good on June 15 and won by five games with a 97-57 record. This was 27 games better than their pace of 1953.

Welaj To Manage Hagerstown Team

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Dec. 22 (AP)—John L. Welaj, former Washington Senator and Philadelphia Athletics outfielder, today was named manager of the Hagerstown Packets of the Class B Piedmont League.

General Manager Rufus K. Edwards said Welaj signed a one-year contract. He'll be a non-playing manager but may see duty as a pinch-hitter.

Paul Campbell managed the Packets last season until he took another post in the club and Zeke Bonura, on loan from the New York Yankees, finished the season.

Kingwood Hunter Accidentally Wounded

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 22 (AP)—A young Kingwood man wounded by shotgun pellets in a hunting accident was in critical condition in a Morgantown hospital today.

The victim, Robert DeWitt, 21, was wounded yesterday while he and three companions were hunting rabbits in the west end of Kingwood.

State Police said they believed DeWitt was hit by pellets from the shotgun of two of his companions who fired at a rabbit at the same time.

Richards To Shop In Kansas City

BALTIMORE, Dec. 22 (AP)—Paul Richards will go shopping in Kansas City the day after Christmas for more Baltimore Orioles.

The new manager already has swung deals with the New York Yankees, Chicago White Sox and the Brooklyn Dodgers. The Athletics he reportedly is interested in are someone like Vic Power, Bill Renna or Gus Zernial, right handed power hitters.

Richards also has talked possible deals with the Detroit Tigers and Boston Red Sox.

But Jack Dunn, aide to Richards who is in Texas, said after talking by phone to the manager that "He must think he has a good chance of swinging another trade, otherwise he wouldn't go all the way out to Kansas City."

Catholic Teams Battle For Lead In Game Tonight

St. Michaels Plays SS. Peter-Paul At 8

The leadership of the Catholic Youth Basketball League is at stake tonight when St. Michael's, of Frostburg, does battle with SS. Peter and Paul in the second game of a doubleheader on SS. Peter and Paul court. The contest is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

Coach Bob Mattingly's SS. Peter and Paul quint won the title last season. Both teams have won their first two starts of the current campaign. The Frostburg quint is coached by Father Regis Larkin whose teams won five straight championships before being dethroned last season. The circuit is now in its 9th year. St. Patrick's of Cumberland won the first two titles.

In tonight's opening game at 7 o'clock, St. Patrick's of Mt. Savage will play St. Patrick's of Cumberland.

The third game of the evening brings together St. Peter's of Westernport and St. Mary's of Cumberland on the latter's court at 7:30 o'clock.

No games are listed for Sunday but three tilts are scheduled a week from tonight.

Utah Bows, 54-52, To Southern Cal

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 22 (AP) — Never-say-die Southern California fought from 15 points behind tonight to surprise sluggish Utah, the nation's No. 2 basketball power, 54-52, in the consolation game of the University of Kentucky's Invitational Tournament.

Host Kentucky, No. 1 college team in the Associated Press poll, met No. 4 LaSalle in the championship game.

KNOW THIS CONVENTION

ONE of the most efficient uses of the Blackwood convention is that which applies to its use when one member of your pair has a void in a suit which had been bid by an opponent. Your cue-bid of that suit, if followed by the Blackwood 4-No Trumps, indicates a blank and asks your partner how many aces he holds in the other three suits. An ensuing 5-No Trumps then inquires what number of kings he has in those three suits. He must not under any circumstances count any ace or king in the cue-bid suit, when answering your conventional questions. You should know this convention, and try to see that your partners do, as it is sure-fire.

	♠ A K 10 4 ♥ A Q 6 5 ♦ A Q 8 5 3 ♣ None
♠ Q J 8 ♥ 9 3 ♦ 10 2 ♣ A K 10 7 6 3	N W E S	♠ 9 7 6 2 ♥ J 2 ♦ J 9 7 4 ♣ Q J 9
	♠ 5 3 ♥ K 10 8 7 4 ♦ K 6 ♣ 8 5 4 2

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♦	Pass	1 ♥	2 ♣
3 ♣	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
4 NT	Pass	5 ♣	Pass
5 NT	Pass	6 ♥	Pass
7 ♥

The first conventional meaning attached to North's cue-bid of his opponent's clubs was the proclaiming of no losers in the suit, because of an ace or void, plus adequate support for his own partner's suit as trump, plus sufficient strength to justify the pair reaching a game contract. The meaning of that 3-Clubs call then was made more specific when North bid 4-No Trumps, as a Blackwood bid after an obvious cue-bid, if there is no doubt about the eventual trump suit, is never made by an understanding user of the convention except with a blank in the cue-bid suit.

North knew South would have to bid 5-Clubs to show no aces in the other three suits, since he had all three himself. That bid was necessary, however, to make the 5-No Trumps be the Blackwood king-asker. Now South got the idea clearly and showed two kings with his 5-Hearts. North, knowing they were both in the red suits, bid the grand slam without a qualm of doubt.

The contract was easy to make after the club K lead was ruffed. Trumps were cleared in three rounds and a bit of care was all that South needed to get rid of all other losers.

KNOW THIS CONVENTION

ONE of the most efficient uses of the Blackwood convention is that which applies to its use when one member of your pair has a void in a suit which had been bid by an opponent. Your cue-bid of that suit, if followed by the Blackwood 4-No Trumps, indicates a blank and asks your partner how many aces he holds in the other three suits. An ensuing 5-No Trumps then inquires what number of kings he has in those three suits. He must not under any circumstances count any ace or king in the cue-bid suit, when answering your conventional questions. You should know this convention, and try to see that your partners do, as it is sure-fire.

	♠ A K 10 4 ♥ A Q 6 5 ♦ A Q 8 5 3 ♣ None
♠ Q J 8 ♥ 9 3 ♦ 10 2 ♣ A K 10 7 6 3	N W E S	♠ 9 7 6 2 ♥ J 2 ♦ J 9 7 4 ♣ Q J 9

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

1 ♦	Pass	1 ♥	2 ♣
3 ♣	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
4 NT	Pass	5 ♣	Pass
5 NT	Pass	6 ♥	Pass

The first conventional meaning attached to North's cue-bid of his opponent's clubs was the proclaiming of no losers in the suit, because of an ace or void, plus adequate support for his own partner's suit as trump, plus sufficient strength to justify the pair reaching a game contract. The meaning of that 3-Clubs call then was made more specific when North bid 4-No Trumps, as a Blackwood bid after an obvious cue-bid, if there is no doubt about the eventual trump suit, is never made by an understanding user of the convention except with a blank in the cue-bid suit.

North knew South would have to bid 5-Clubs to show no aces in the other three suits, since he had all three himself. That bid was necessary, however, to make the 5-No Trumps be the Blackwood king-asker. Now South got the idea clearly and showed two kings with his 5-Hearts. The contract was easy to make after the club K lead was ruffed. Trumps were cleared in three rounds and a bit of care was all that South needed to get rid of all other losers.

GRIN AND BEAR IT — By Lichty

Profit-Taking And Heavy Demands Lower The Market

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 (AP)—Heavy demand for many issues coupled with profit-taking in other sections of the list today resulted in a highly mixed stock market that was slightly lower on balance.

Outstanding advances by individual issues were shown in steels, oils, rubbers, rails, aircrafts, and coppers. Those groups, however, were not necessarily higher by any means. In fact, only the oils and coppers closed higher as groups. The others were mixed to lower.

Definitely depressed were the motors, airlines, electrical equipments, radio-televisions, and utilities.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost 40 cents at $152.90 with the industrials down 40 cents, railroads off 10 cents, and utilities down 30 cents. There was a fairly even balance between gains and losses with 460 issues up and 510 down out of the 1,221 issues traded.

Benguet Mining was the day's most active issue up ¼ at 1½. It was up ⅛ yesterday at the top of the most active list. Total trading in the issue today was 212,100 shares with many blocks as large as 25,000 shares changing hands.

It was followed by Curtiss-Wright up 1⅛ at 16¾, Sunray Oil up ¾ at 22½, Republic Steel up 3⅛ at 75¾, and Columbia Gas up ⅜ at 16.

Strength in Republic Steel followed reports of large titanium finds in Mexico.

Among stocks going up were Goodyear up 1¼, Inspiration Copper 1⅜, Kennecott Copper 1⅜, Dow Chemical 1⅛, General Dynamics 4¼, Baltimore & Ohio 17⅛, Cities Service 2½ and American Metal Products 2¼.

Among losers were U. S. Steel down ⅜, Chrysler ⅞, Boeing ⅜, Radio Corp. ⅜, Zenith 2⅜, American Telephone ⅜, American Cynamid ⅝, Westinghouse Electric ⅝, American Can ⅝, New York Central 1, Southern Railway ¾, Standard Oil (NJ) ½, Pan American World Airways ¼, United Air Lines ⅞ and Pennsylvania Railroad ¼.

Corporate bonds moved narrowly. U. S. government issues in the over the counter market were higher.

Profit-Taking And Heavy Demands Lower The Market

NEW YORK, Dec. 22 (AP)—Heavy demand for many issues coupled with profit-taking in other sections of the list today resulted in a highly mixed stock market that was slightly lower on balance.

Outstanding advances by individual issues were shown in steels, oils, rubbers, rails, aircrafts, and coppers. Those groups, however, were not necessarily higher by any means. In fact, only the oils and coppers closed higher as groups. The others were mixed to lower.

Definitely depressed were the motors, airlines, electrical equipments, radio-televisions, and utilities.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost 40 cents at $152.90 with the industrials down 40 cents, railroads off 10 cents, and utilities down 30 cents. There was a fairly even balance between gains and losses with 460 issues up and 510 down out of the 1,221 issues traded.

Benguet Mining was the day's most active issue up ¼ at 1½. It was up ⅛ yesterday at the top of the most active list. Total trading in the issue today was 212,100 shares with many blocks as large as 25,000 shares changing hands.

It was followed by Curtiss-Wright up 1⅛ at 16¾, Sunray Oil up ¾ at 22½, Republic Steel up 3⅜ at 75¾, and Columbia Gas up ⅜ at 16.

Strength in Republic Steel followed reports of large titanium finds in Mexico.

Among stocks going up were Goodyear up 1¼, Inspiration Copper 1⅜, Kennecott Copper 1⅜, Dow Chemical 1⅛, General Dynamics 4¼, Baltimore & Ohio 1⅞, Cities Service 2½ and American Metal Products 2¼.

Among losers were U. S. Steel down ⅜, Chrysler ⅞, Boeing ⅜, Radio Corp. ⅜, Zenith 2⅜, American Telephone ⅜, American Cynamid ⅝, Westinghouse Electric ⅝, American Can ⅝, New York Central 1, Southern Railway ¾, Standard Oil (NJ) ½, Pan American World Airways ¼, United Air Lines ⅞ and Pennsylvania Railroad ¼.

Corporate bonds moved narrowly. U. S. government issues in the over the counter market were higher.

Three Persons Are Injured In Highway Crash

Local Priest, Area Man Hospitalized

A local Capuchin priest and a Frostburg resident were hospitalized yesterday afternoon with injuries sustained in a two-car head-on collision which occurred on U.S. Route 40 about two miles east of Grantsville.

A third person in the crash was injured. Admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital here was Father Hilary Lehr, OFM, Cap. pastor of St. Stephen's Catholic Church at Grantsville and of St. Ann's Church in Avilton.

Attaches said he complained of chest injuries and was admitted for X-rays and observation. His condition last night was reported "fair."

Willard Richard Larue, 35, of Frostburg, passenger in one of the cars, was admitted to Miners Hospital, Frostburg, in a semi-conscious condition and was treated immediately for shock.

Attaches last night said he sustained a possible fractured skull, possible fractured ribs, internal injuries, lacerations of the face and abrasions about the body.

His condition is also reported "fair." Treated at the Frostburg hospital was Charles Weaver Turner, 28, also of Frostburg, who sustained abrasions and will return to the hospital this morning for X-rays.

Maryland State Police said the car driven by Turner was going east on Route 40 toward Frostburg, failed to negotiate a right turn and skidded into the westbound lane headon into the auto driven by Father Hilary.

The local priest was traveling in the direction of Grantsville and was planning to fix the Christmas decorations at St. Stephen's Church.

Larue, a passenger in the car driven by Turner, was sitting in the front seat on the right. Police said Turner will be charged with reckless driving.

Trooper Glen L. Folke, investigating officer said the accident occurred about 3:30 p.m.

Christmas Food Baskets To Be Distributed Today

The Associated Charities last night completed packing the last of 184 Christmas food baskets. Miss Jeannette Bonig, executive secretary, said the baskets, which contain everything needed for a good Christmas dinner, will be delivered this morning by City of Cumberland trucks.

They will be given to needy families of the Cumberland area. The contents vary, but in general contain a ham, canned and fresh vegetables and fruits, and a dessert.

Miss Bonig said the Christmas food baskets were made possible by the donations of cash and food by many organizations and individuals who ask the Red Feather agency to distribute their contributions to the less fortunate families of the community.

None of the funds for the Christmas baskets, or for food supplies distributed for Thanksgiving, comes from the budget of the Associated Charities.

Typical of the many donors are students from Fort Hill and Allegany High School who make donations of cash and food a part of their Christmas activities, and ask the Associated Charities to give the supplies to the most needy.

Last week, the Chest agency completed the distribution of some 10,000 toys as a major part of its Christmas program.

The processional hymn, "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," will open the program and will be followed by the Scripture and Christmas prayer by Rev. Harold L. May, assistant pastor.

The Anthem, "Sleep, My Jesus, Sleep," will then be sung by the Sanctuary Choir with Mrs. Helen Buchholtz as contralto soloist; Miss Patricia Kerns, violin; Norwood Edmundson, cello and Mrs. Kenneth Beck, organ.

The meditation, "The First Christmas," by Rev. Amoss will follow. Next on the program will be the hymn of meditation, "Silent Night, Holy Night."

A highlight of the evening service will be the Christmas cantata, "When the Christ Child Came," with words by Laura Spencer Porter and music by Joseph W. Clokey.

Director of the cantata is Charles I. Sager, with Mrs. Kenneth Beck organist and Miss Virginia Fatkin pianist. Soloists will be Mrs. Helen Buchholtz, contralto; Miss Josephine Kompanek, soprano; James Hager, tenor, and Charles Sager, baritone.

The cantata will be followed by the benediction and choral response, and the organ postlude, "Fantasia on Old Christmas Carols," by William Faulkes.

City Is Praised For Yule Display

City officials report they have received many favorable comments on the city's Christmas display on the site of old Fort Cumberland.

At an informal meeting Tuesday night, members of the council said the public has been enthusiastic about the display, commenting it is the most beautiful ever seen here.

Officials pointed out the choice of the site on the grounds of Emmanuel Episcopal Church was an especially happy one, both because of its location which can be seen from much of the city—and the fact that 1955 will mark the bicentennial of the completion of the outpost at the gateway to the West in 1755.

Funds Received For Honor Roll

A good response is reported from a fund drive being held to finance the Allegany County Honor Roll.

Thomas F. Conlon, chairman of the civic committee, added that more funds are expected toward the needed $700 during the holiday season.

Separate rolls were placed in the Cumberland Post Office recently for members of the Armed Forces who paid the supreme sacrifice in World War I, World War II and the Korean War.

Conlon said the committee should be notified immediately if any corrections in the list are needed, or if any names have been omitted.

He said the honor roll now located in City Hall has been given to the Allegany County Historical Society.

Other members of the committee are Mrs. Marguerite Findlay, vice chairman; John Park, treasurer, and Miss Wella Cook, secretary.

Ridgeley Gets Surplus Foods For First Time

Distribution Begins At 10 A. M. Today

Beginning at 10 a. m. today, 96 families in Ridgeley and immediate vicinity will receive their first allotment of surplus foods under the new federal commodities distribution program.

A quantity of foodstuffs arrived yesterday and members of Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion, helped weigh, package and store the commodities yesterday afternoon and last night. The post members were distributing 17 Christmas food baskets when the commodities arrived.

The distribution will begin at 10 a. m. today at the Legion home, and the families certified are urged by Post Commander Roland Showers to come as early as possible so the task can be completed today.

To be distributed in this month's allotment are lima and pinto beans, shortening, butter, dried milk and cheese.

The amount available to each family will depend upon the number in each family, officials noted.

At Keyser, distribution of these same type commodities began yesterday, according to Mayor John C. Freeland. Another distribution point is at Elk Garden.

Distribution from Keyser, which is to be finished today, embraces the Keyser and Piedmont areas, where 212 families of 772 persons have been certified as eligible.

In Ridgeley, plans have been formulated for a registration for the January allotment of food. On Monday from 10 a. m. to noon, Mrs. Lucille Peters of the Department of Public Assistance at Keyser, will be at the Legion home to interview and register new registrants.

Persons who registered for today's distribution a couple of weeks ago must register again for the January surplus. From 1 p. m. until 5 p. m., Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, all these persons who wish January foods must register at the Legion home.

Officials explain that the federal government issues these surplus commodities on a month-to-month basis, and it is necessary to register each month, to participate in the following month's shipment.

Here in Cumberland, where the program is sponsored with the help of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners, Walker Chapman said last night, over 1,000 families will receive surplus commodities today and tomorrow. The December allotment has been distributed throughout the county in the past week and a half.

Beginning at 8 a. m. today, eligibles may receive their surplus foods at the County Garage, Franklin Street. Chapman urgently requests all registered persons to report today, if possible, and at least no later than Friday noon. Friday is a holiday for county workers, and the county workers who will man the distribution center on Friday morning are doing so on a volunteer basis on their own time.

Chapman said it would be appreciated by the county employes, who hand out the commodities, if they can have it all distributed no later than noon tomorrow.

Potomac Edison Notes Expansion Of Area Industry

The Potomac Edison Company plans to spend $4,500,000 next year to meet the needs for more power, including the world's most modern plate glass plant which the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company is building near Cumberland.

At a quarterly meeting yesterday, R. Paul Smith, president, told directors the company also expects sizable demands for power from the plant which Ashworth Brothers, Inc., is building at Winchester, Va., and other new and additional facilities planned by the company's industrial customers.

The report noted the construction of major transmission facilities and the building of some 160 miles of rural lines this year as part of a $5,300,000 construction program.

The industrial power load for the year was slightly less than budgeted, but exceeded 1953's power load. Generating facilities will be adequate to meet 1955 needs.

The company noted its all time record peak and 24-hour output of electricity occurred this month.

Growth was also noted in the company's domestic load which is expected to reach about 2,746 kilowatt hours by the end of the year, with a monthly average per customer of about $6.65.

The Potomac Edison Company is now serving 146,561 electric customers, which represents a gain of 3,200 during the past 12 months.

Smith told directors operating revenues show an increase of about one-half per cent and expenses an increase of about one per cent, but that net income will drop about five per cent, due to changes in the new federal income tax laws.

Cold Spell May Break Late Today

The weatherman is expected to let up a little in the current cold snap, which hit the area Monday and has kept residents shivering ever since.

However the mercury was expected to dip as low as 12 degrees last night and today there should be considerable cloudiness and a little warmer weather this afternoon.

The temperature is not expected to be so cold this evening as in the past three nights. Up in Garrett County, King Winter continues to reign although the weather apparently wasn't quite as rugged as in the past couple of weeks.

A trace of snow was reported to have fallen through the night yesterday and the mercury again dipped to near-zero temperatures in that County.

Highways west of Frostburg are well cindered on the hills and traffic has been moving without too much trouble. However, the roads are icy in spots and caution is urged.

The sun shone brightly in the general area yesterday afternoon, but did not have too much effect on melting the snows in the mountainous sectors.

Route 40 east of here continues to remain clear for travel and Route 50 east and west of Romney, W. Va., last night was clear.

The high temperature here yesterday was 28 degrees, the official low was 13 degrees and at 7:30 p. m. yesterday the temperature was 24 degrees.

Pre-Assembly GOP Caucus Is Set January 4

County Legislators Will Attend Meeting

Allegany County legislators will leave here January 4 to attend a Republican caucus scheduled in Annapolis on the eve of the opening of the 1955 General Assembly.

In preparation for the session, expected to be one of the most important in a number of years, members of the Allegany County Delegation and Senator Robert B. Kimble have held almost two dozen meetings during the past few weeks with groups and citizens interested in the coming legislative program.

Delegate Charles M. See, chairman of the delegation, said the GOP caucus has been called by D. Eldred Rinehart, Hagerstown, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee of Maryland.

It will open with a dinner scheduled at 6:30 p.m. in Carvel Hall, at which Governor Theodore R. McKeldin, the first Republican to be re-elected governor of Maryland, is expected to speak.

Meetings Planned

Following the dinner, the GOP delegates and senators will caucus to elect minority leaders and a permanent chairman for joint Senate and House conferences.

The Allegany County legislative group will include State Senator Robert B. Kimble, who has served as Senate minority leader for several terms and as a staunch supporter of Governor McKeldin's legislative program.

The Delegation to the General Assembly will include veteran Delegates Noel Speir Cook, Lester B. Reed, Fred B. Driscoll, Estel C. Kelley and Charles M. See, who will again serve as chairman of the Delegation, and one newcomer, Delegate George R. Hughes Jr., local attorney who was elected on his first try for public office.

Delegate See emphasized that the Allegany County legislators, during the many meetings held with citizens and groups, have expressed interest in all proposals but have made no commitments.

He said all of the items will be laid before the delegates in conferences which will begin as soon as the General Assembly is organized on January 5.

Request Resolutions

The delegation spokesman said all legislation requested by public officials must be presented in the form of a resolution, passed upon at a duly authorized meeting.

One other legislative meeting is planned Monday, and another possible.

Scheduled Monday at noon in the Fort Cumberland Hotel is a meeting with an insurance group, headed by J. Glenn Beall Jr.

Del. See said Senator Kimble will be unable to attend the meeting as he will be completing urgent duties in connection with his position as area safety director for the B&O Railroad before taking a 90-day leave of absence during the meeting of the Assembly.

The unfinished business is a meeting with the Board of Allegany County Commissioners and the Industrial Promotion committee of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce on the subject of industrial tax exemptions.

Conferences Held

The meetings held by Senator Kimble and the Delegation in preparation to the 1955 Assembly opened on December 1 at a meeting with the Board of Allegany County Commissioners on the subject of industrial tax exemption. A second conference was called December 17, but little business was transacted, since a Chamber of Commerce recommendation was not completed.

The legislators met the same day with Josiah E. Mullenax and a Flintstone delegation on improvements requested for Flintstone School.

Labor legislation was discussed at a third meeting that day with

1954 Seal Sale Returns Reach $12,998, But $7,000 More Needed For Program

Returns from the 48th annual Christmas seal sale sponsored by the Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis Association totaled $12,998.21 yesterday, according to Glenn K. Davis, seal sale chairman.

He said the returns represent about 65 per cent of the $20,000 which will be needed to finance the program of the association during the coming year.

Included in the returns are $8,841.65 from Cumberland, the Georges Creek area and the eastern part of Allegany County. Frostburg returns now total $1,560.80; Westernport, $765.06, and Garrett County, $1,705.43.

Davis said follow-up letters are being sent out in an attempt to get as much as possible of the campaign completed by Christmas.

He said $7,001.79 more will be needed by the association, and that the board of directors hopes to have at least 95 per cent of the funds in by New Year's Day.

Funds obtained from the sale of Christmas seals are used to provide free chest X-rays for all, including small pictures taken during the mass chest X-ray program and as many full-size pictures as are needed, for free clothing for needy tuberculosis patients, free clinical treatment in chest clinics conducted by the Health Department, free medicine for patients and for an educational program.

One of the important functions of the Christmas seal sale is to support a national program of tuberculosis research and education, and six cents of every seal dollar is set aside for this purpose, Davis said.

A total of 40,004 seal letters were mailed late in November, including 24,293 to residents of Allegany County and 5,711 to Garrett County residents.

Three Persons Are Injured In Highway Crash

Local Priest, Area Man Hospitalized

A local Capuchin priest and a Frostburg resident were hospitalized yesterday afternoon with injuries sustained in a two-car head-on collision which occurred on U.S. Route 40 about two miles east of Grantsville.

A third person in the crash was injured. Admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital here was Father Hilary Lehr, OFM, Cap. pastor of St. Stephen's Catholic Church at Grantsville and of St. Ann's Church in Avilton.

Attaches said he complained of chest injuries and was admitted for X-rays and observation. His condition last night was reported "fair."

Willard Richard Larue, 35, of Frostburg, passenger in one of the cars, was admitted to Miners Hospital, Frostburg, in a semi-conscious condition and was treated immediately for shock.

Attaches last night said he sustained a possible fractured skull, possible fractured ribs, internal injuries, lacerations of the face and abrasions about the body.

His condition is also reported "fair." Treated at the Frostburg hospital was Charles Weaver Turner, 23, also of Frostburg, who sustained abrasions and will return to the hospital this morning for X-rays.

Maryland State Police said the car driven by Turner was going east on Route 40 toward Frostburg, failed to negotiate a right turn and skidded into the westbound lane headon into the auto driven by Father Hilary.

The local priest was traveling in the direction of Grantsville and was planning to fix the Christmas decorations at St. Stephen's Church.

Larue, a passenger in the car driven by Turner, was sitting in the front seat on the right. Police said Turner will be charged with reckless driving.

Trooper Glen L. Folke, investigating officer said the accident occurred about 3:30 p.m.

Ridgeley Gets Surplus Foods For First Time

Distribution Begins At 10 A. M. Today

Beginning at 10 a. m. today, 96 families in Ridgeley and immediate vicinity will receive their first allotment of surplus foods under the new federal commodities distribution program.

A quantity of foodstuffs arrived yesterday and members of Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion, helped weigh, package and store the commodities yesterday afternoon and last night. The post members were distributing 17 Christmas food baskets when the commodities arrived.

The distribution will begin at 10 a. m. today at the Legion home, and the families certified are urged by Post Commander Roland Showers to come as early as possible so the task can be completed today.

To be distributed in this month's allotment are lima and pinto beans, shortening, butter, dried milk and cheese.

The amount available to each family will depend upon the number in each family, officials noted.

At Keyser, distribution of these same type commodities began yesterday, according to Mayor John C. Freeland. Another distribution point is at Elk Garden.

Distribution from Keyser, which is to be finished today, embraces the Keyser and Piedmont areas, where 212 families of 772 persons have been certified as eligible.

In Ridgeley, plans have been formulated for a registration for the January allotment of food. On Monday from 10 a. m. to noon, Mrs. Lucille Peters of the Department of Public Assistance at Keyser, will be at the Legion home to interview and register new registrants.

Persons who registered for today's distribution a couple of weeks ago must register again for the January surplus. From 1 p. m. until 5 p. m., Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, all these persons who wish January foods must register at the Legion home.

Officials explain that the federal government issues these surplus commodities on a month-to-month basis, and it is necessary to register each month, to participate in the following month's shipment.

Here in Cumberland, where the program is sponsored with the help of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners, Walker Chapman said last night, over 1,000 families will receive surplus commodities today and tomorrow. The December allotment has been distributed throughout the county in the past week and a half.

Beginning at 8 a. m. today, eligibles may receive their surplus foods at the County Garage, Franklin Street. Chapman urgently requests all registered persons to report today, if possible, and at least no later than Friday noon. Friday is a holiday for county workers, and the county workers who will man the distribution center on Friday morning are doing so on a volunteer basis on their own time.

Chapman said it would be appreciated by the county employes, who hand out the commodities, if they can have it all distributed no later than noon tomorrow.

Potomac Edison Notes Expansion Of Area Industry

The Potomac Edison Company plans to spend $4,500,000 next year to meet the needs for more power, including the world's most modern plate glass plant which the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company is building near Cumberland.

At a quarterly meeting yesterday, R. Paul Smith, president, told directors the company also expects sizable demands for power from the plant which Ashworth Brothers, Inc., is building at Winchester, Va., and other new and additional facilities planned by the company's industrial customers.

The report noted the construction of major transmission facilities and the building of some 160 miles of rural lines this year as part of a $5,300,000 construction program.

The industrial power load for the year was slightly less than budgeted, but exceeded 1953's power load. Generating facilities will be adequate to meet 1955 needs.

The company noted its all time record peak and 24-hour output of electricity occurred this month.

Growth was also noted in the company's domestic load which is expected to reach about 2,746 kilowatt hours by the end of the year, with a monthly average per customer of about $6.65.

The Potomac Edison Company is now serving 146,561 electric customers, which represents a gain of 3,200 during the past 12 months.

Smith told directors operating revenues show an increase of about one-half per cent and expenses an increase of about one per cent, but that net income will drop about five per cent, due to changes in the new federal income tax laws.

Cold Spell May Break Late Today

The weatherman is expected to let up a little in the current cold snap, which hit the area Monday and has kept residents shivering ever since.

However the mercury was expected to dip as low as 12 degrees last night and today there should be considerable cloudiness and a little warmer weather this afternoon.

The temperature is not expected to be so cold this evening as in the past three nights. Up in Garrett County, King Winter continues to reign although the weather apparently wasn't quite as rugged as in the past couple of weeks.

A trace of snow was reported to have fallen through the night yesterday and the mercury again dipped to near-zero temperatures in that County.

Highways west of Frostburg are well cindered on the hills and traffic has been moving without too much trouble. However, the roads are icy in spots and caution is urged.

The sun shone brightly in the general area yesterday afternoon, but did not have too much effect on melting the snows in the mountainous sectors.

Route 40 east of here continues to remain clear for travel and Route 50 east and west of Romney, W. Va., last night was clear.

The high temperature here yesterday was 28 degrees, the official low was 13 degrees and at 7:30 p. m. yesterday the temperature was 24 degrees.

Pre-Assembly GOP Caucus Is Set January 4

County Legislators Will Attend Meeting

Allegany County legislators will leave here January 4 to attend a Republican caucus scheduled in Annapolis on the eve of the opening of the 1955 General Assembly.

In preparation for the session, expected to be one of the most important in a number of years, members of the Allegany County Delegation and Senator Robert B. Kimble have held almost two dozen meetings during the past few weeks with groups and citizens interested in the coming legislative program.

Delegate Charles M. See, chairman of the delegation, said the GOP caucus has been called by D. Eldred Rinehart, Hagerstown, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee of Maryland.

It will open with a dinner scheduled at 6:30 p.m. in Carvel Hall, at which Governor Theodore R. McKeldin, the first Republican to be re-elected governor of Maryland, is expected to speak.

Meetings Planned

Following the dinner, the GOP delegates and senators will caucus to elect minority leaders and a permanent chairman for joint Senate and House conferences.

The Allegany County legislative group will include State Senator Robert B. Kimble, who has served as Senate minority leader for several terms and as a staunch supporter of Governor McKeldin's legislative program.

The Delegation to the General Assembly will include veteran Delegates Noel Speir Cook, Lester B. Reed, Fred B. Driscoll, Estel C. Kelley and Charles M. See, who will again serve as chairman of the Delegation, and one newcomer, Delegate George R. Hughes Jr., local attorney who was elected on his first try for public office.

Delegate See emphasized that the Allegany County legislators, during the many meetings held with citizens and groups, have expressed interest in all proposals but have made no commitments.

He said all of the items will be laid before the delegates in conferences which will begin as soon as the General Assembly is organized on January 5.

Request Resolutions

The delegation spokesman said all legislation requested by public officials must be presented in the form of a resolution, passed upon at a duly authorized meeting.

One other legislative meeting is planned Monday, and another possible.

Scheduled Monday at noon in the Fort Cumberland Hotel is a meeting with an insurance group, headed by J. Glenn Beall Jr.

Del. See said Senator Kimble will be unable to attend the meeting as he will be completing urgent duties in connection with his position as area safety director for the B&O Railroad before taking a 90-day leave of absence during the meeting of the Assembly.

The unfinished business is a meeting with the Board of Allegany County Commissioners and the Industrial Promotion committee of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce on the subject of industrial tax exemptions.

Conferences Held

The meetings held by Senator Kimble and the Delegation in preparation to the 1955 Assembly opened on December 1 at a meeting with the Board of Allegany County Commissioners on the subject of industrial tax exemption. A second conference was called December 17, but little business was transacted, since a Chamber of Commerce recommendation was not completed.

The legislators met the same day with Josiah E. Mullenax and a Flintstone delegation on improvements requested for Flintstone School.

Labor legislation was discussed at a third meeting that day with

1954 Seal Sale Returns Reach $12,998, But $7,000 More Needed For Program

Returns from the 48th annual Christmas seal sale sponsored by the Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis Association totaled $12,998.21 yesterday, according to Glenn K. Davis, seal sale chairman.

He said the returns represent about 65 per cent of the $20,000 which will be needed to finance the program of the association during the coming year.

Included in the returns are $8,841.65 from Cumberland, the Georges Creek area and the eastern part of Allegany County. Frostburg returns now total $1,560.80; Westernport, $765.06, and Garrett County, $1,705.43.

Davis said follow-up letters are being sent out in an attempt to get as much as possible of the campaign completed by Christmas.

He said $7,001.79 more will be needed by the association, and that the board of directors hopes to have at least 95 per cent of the funds in by New Year's Day.

Funds obtained from the sale of Christmas seals are used to provide free chest X-rays for all, including small pictures taken during the mass chest X-ray program and as many full-size pictures as are needed, for free clothing for needy tuberculosis patients, free clinical treatment in chest clinics conducted by the Health Department, free medicine for patients and for an educational program.

One of the important functions of the Christmas seal sale is to support a national program of tuberculosis research and education, and six cents of every seal dollar is set aside for this purpose, Davis said.

A total of 40,004 seal letters were mailed late in November, including 24,293 to residents of Allegany County and 5,711 to Garrett County residents.
